Anti Saloon League Plans For Nationwide Battle

OPENS DRIVE IN MOVE TO BEAT REPEAL

Predicts Seven Of Eight States Voting During June Will Ballot Dry

CHARGES COERCION

Declares Wets Are Trying To Stampede People In Campaign Over Country

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(UP)—The most powerful dry organization in the United States drew plans today for a nationwide battle which, it was declared, will save the eighteenth amendment from repeal. Eight states thus far have voted for repeal. Eight more vote this month.

"This time," said F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, "the story will be different. The eight states that have voted were wet states. The eight states which we concede none of them. We predict confidently that all—with the possible exception of Illinois—will go dry. And that is just the beginning of our fight."

Illinois voters went to the polls today. Indiana votes tomorrow. McBride exhibited vari colored maps showing the year by year progress of prohibition. The map for 1926 was nearly all yellow, indicating most states had prohibition statutes. The map for 1933 was splashed showing the number of states which later dropped their liquor laws.

McBride Confident

McBride is a brawny, blue eyed man, with a shock of unruly black hair. He is a veteran of many a legislative battle over liquor and many a contest at the polls. He has won nearly all of his past fights. He is confident that he will keep on winning in the future.

He was particularly bitter over the administration's promise to rescind the "nuisance taxes" if the liquor laws were repealed. "That promise," he declared, "is nothing more than a threat to pay them a bonus for voting wet. It is a holdup proposition. The wets never before have dared use such a scheme."

"The wets are trying to coerce and stampede the people. Their

Several weeks ago Marco was released from San Quentin prison after serving four years for assault with a deadly weapon. He is held in jail pending outcome of his appeal.

JUDGE LINDSEY AGAIN REFUSED REINSTATING

Supreme Court Of Colorado Reaffirms Decision On Disbarring Jurist

DENVER, Colo., June 5.—(UP)—Judge Ben B. Lindsey, internationally famous juvenile court authority, today was refused reinstatement to the Colorado bar. The supreme court, by a majority opinion in which only two justices dissented, reaffirmed its earlier decision in which Judge Lindsey was disbarred.

Lindsey was disbarred by a decision of the court handed down on December 9, 1929, in which it was held that he had violated his oath as a judicial official and as an attorney in accepting $37,500 from Mrs. Helen E. Stokes and the late W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire.

The payments were made in connection with his services in obtaining for the two children of Mrs. Stokes a $3,000,000 share in the estate of their father, the late W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire.

Lindsey asserted he acted in the Stokes case solely in the interest of the children, who were wards of his court at the time.

"If I was disbarred for helping the children and their mother," he said, "I should have been disbarred long ago. I've helped hundreds of them."

The alleged offenses occurred when Lindsey was nearing the end of 27 years service on the juvenile court bench here, years in which he established present juvenile court methods, an abode famous the world over for his success in dealing with problems of delinquent young people.

In 1927 the same court ousted him from the bench, after a long election contest.

Lindsey is perhaps the world's best known advocate of companion marriage, and his ideas on this subject brought him under constant fire from many sources.

CHARLES MITCHELL PLACED ON STAND

NEW YORK, June 5.—(UP)—Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City bank, became his own star witness today at his trial on charges of defrauding the government by evading the income tax. The witness stand by Max Steuer, his counsel, after Steuer had failed in an attempt to put Mrs. Mitchell in the witness chair as first witness for the defense.

The banker's wife was about to be sworn in by the clerk when Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard stopped her and reprimanded Steuer for attempting to call the wife of the defendant.

FIFTEEN INJURED AT WORLD'S FAIR

CHICAGO, June 5.—(UP)—Fifteen persons were being treated here today for injuries suffered at the World's Fair grounds when a 70-mile an hour gale whipped down Lake Michigan, lashing the exposition. In another part of the city a man was killed and several others injured.

None of the injuries at the fair was serious, but property damage was estimated at $8,000. The more than 50,000 persons on the grounds when the storm struck dashed for cover and were hurt when windows were blown in and small structures damaged.

Coast guard ships rescued 10 persons in two lake accidents.

The storm followed a short heat wave during which the mercury mounted to 81 degrees.

MORGAN'S QUIZ IS RESUMED IN CAPITAL TODAY

Inquiry Turns To Scrutiny Of Railroad Financed By N. Y. Banker

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(UP)—The senate investigation of J. P. Morgan & Co., turned today to a scrutiny of the vast railroad empire financed by the Morgan interests.

O. P. Van Sweringen, one of the brothers who built a great railroad network with Morgan aid, told the senate stock market investigating committee of the 17-year career which brought the Van Sweringens from real estate developers to railroad monarchs.

Van Sweringen, a stocky man with graying hair, was called to testify after the committee, in a two-hour executive session, decided to delay until tomorrow a decision on whether to go into the income tax payments of Thomas S. Lamont, young Morgan partner.

The Van Sweringens have been almost legendary figures because of the dramatic and romantic story of their rise and the exclusion they have maintained since their ascent to power. Photographers, declaring that the Cleveland railroad operators had not been photographed for the newspapers in 15 years, besieged them in much the same way they did Morgan when he appeared at the inquiry for the first time.

The story of the Van Sweringens is a story of men who turned a vision into reality. Their first venture into the transportation field was to carry suburbanites from Cleveland offices to a de-

ARRAIGNMENT OF LAMSON PUT OFF

SAN JOSE, Calif., June 5.—(UP)—Visibly suffering under the strain of suppressed excitement, David Lamson, Stanford university press executive, today faced, for the first time, a court having to do with murder charges against him.

He appeared before Justice of the Peace Grandin H. Miller who, at the request of the defense, continued his arraignment hearing until June 15 after a brief few questions.

The delay was asked by Louis O'Neal, new defense attorney, who sought sufficient time "to investigate the guilt or innocence" of Lamson, charged with the murder of his pretty young wife, Allene. Lamson said only the word "yes," in response to questions regarding his name and whether he waived reading of the charge.

House Consideration Will Be Delayed Until Later On In Session

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(UP)—House leaders definitely decided today to delay consideration of proposed increases in veterans' appropriations in a desperate hope that President Roosevelt's dramatic "appeal to the nation" might reverse congressional sentiment.

The agreement was announced by Speaker of the House Rainey who said the independent offices supply bill carrying the senate rider adding $170,000,000 for veterans' compensation might not be considered by the chamber until late this week.

Democratic chiefs were faced with a presidential ultimatum that they must either reject the senate veterans action or else raise new taxes to insure a balanced budget.

Although firmly convinced that a substantial majority of the house favors increasing the ex-servicemen's allowances, the leadership will make an effort to sustain the President.

Party strategy calls for postponement of the issue as long as possible, allowing the growing rebellion to "simmer down." It is hoped that the threat of new taxation will arouse public protests to counteract the drive for compensation increases over the economy program.

In Ill Temper

The present temper of the house, Speaker Rainey said, is that it "would approve the senate action or do something worse."

To add to the troubles of leaders, word came from Republican Leader Bertrand H. Snell that little help can be expected from minority ranks on the veterans' controversy.

"We are assured before the economy act passed that there would be no grounds for complaint on the score of service-connected disability cases," Snell said. "But here they go too far in the direction of turning around and give $50,000,000 to China for wheat or something like that."

President Roosevelt sought to whip a rebellious congress into line by giving it a clear-cut choice of backing down in its revolt or imposing $170,000,000 more in new taxes on the nation.

HEIRESS RECOVERS $20,000 IN GEMS

RENO, Nev., June 5.—(UP)—A New York heiress whose $20,000 jewels were recovered from the top of a speakeasy safe was expected today to decide whether she would forgive a fellow townsman for leaving them there.

Unless Mrs. Vivian H. Young, heiress to the Hostetter Bitters fortune, did so, Eugene Bowen, a local bootlegger, would face a possible longer period in jail. Bowen was accused of striking her and taking her jewels to the speakeasy for safekeeping. He was jailed on battery charges.

Last night Mrs. Young indicated she would forgive him. She visited his cell.

FIVE DAY WEEK IN NAVY IS ORDERED

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(UP)—Secretary of Navy Swanson today ordered establishment of a five-day working week for all naval employees outside of the department in Washington.

The order applies also to marine corps employees and takes effect June 25. Employees paid on an annual monthly basis will be furloughed on Saturdays.

Bank Report Shows Trend Now Upward

Postal Receipts Here Up And More Men Employed Than Year Ago

CONTINUING the gains shown in April, the business situation in Santa Ana and in Southern California registered further improvements during May, with many trades and industries reporting increased monthly activities for the first time in several years, according to a check made locally and to the Southwest Business Review issued by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the monthly summary of business conditions, published by the Security-First National bank of Los Angeles.

Consistent gains have been reported in Santa Ana, with postal receipts showing an increase over last year; merchants' reports that business is better than last year; reports from unemployed groups that more men are working and reports from the Business Men's Association of Santa Ana that collections on accounts are better.

Business throughout the Southwest during May has extended gains during April to end the spring in a much better relative position than was the case a year ago, according to the Southwest Business Review.

The bank report pointed out that the upward trend which has been apparent for more than 75 days is a sharp contrast with the spring periods of 1932 and 1931 when ordinary seasonal revivals failed to develop.

More Confidence

While some of the recent advances are apparently due to the production and buying of merchandise in anticipation of rising prices, the increased confidence with which most people view their present wages and salaries and the position of their businesses is probably of equal if not greater importance, the review states.

"The significance," the bank report said, "of the recovery which has occurred locally lies not in its extent, but in the fact that it is the most marked reversal in the downward trend since 1930. To date the movement has been restricted largely to the fields of retail and wholesale trade and to the industries dependent thereon. Automobile sales continue to

Eastbound planes will cross the continent in 20 hours, with westbound planes requiring 21-1/2 hours.

HOARDERS' NAMES GIVEN GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(UP)—Names of more than 1,000 alleged gold hoarders have been turned over to the bureau of investigation of the department of justice for possible prosecution, Attorney General Cummings said today.

Cummings said the list had been given to him by the treasury department late last week.

GOV. FERGUSON SPURNS FIRST LADY OF LAND

Refuses To Attend Breakfast Given In Honor Of Mrs. Roosevelt

DALLAS, Tex., June 5.—(UP)—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and her husband and chief advisor, James E. Ferguson, refused to attend a breakfast given in honor of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt here today after the president's wife declined to pose in a picture with them.

Newspaper photographers who had asked Mrs. Roosevelt to pose with the Fergusons were told she did not wish to pose in group pictures.

The Fergusons had come from Austin by train to welcome Mrs. Roosevelt, on route to the Pacific coast by plane.

Several pictures had been taken by the newspaper photographers when they asked Mrs. Roosevelt to stand between the Fergusons.

Mrs. Roosevelt counseled with Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth newspaper publisher. After a brief conversation she declined the request.

Carter explained Mrs. Roosevelt did "not want to pose in group pictures."

The Fergusons, angered, stomped to their automobile which was waiting at the edge of the field and drove away.

Jim Ferguson was nervous and angered by the incident.

He hurled his one reply at newspaper men: "You'll have to ask Amon Carter."

Mrs. Roosevelt also appeared upset by the display of temper and conversation lagged until the Ferguson automobile had driven from the field.

Later the Fergusons received newspapermen at their suite in a downtown hotel. Both appeared cheerful and Jim vigorously protested that the incident at the airport had not been unfriendly.

"To one reporter he said 'The story is not true.'"

Mrs. Ferguson smiled while her husband talked.

"Amon Carter was just as cordial as he could be," she said. "He still has sense enough to be a gentleman. Mrs. Carter was very pleasant too."

"As for the breakfast, we were not in the picture for that. It was a private affair. Everyone was most courteous and I had a most enjoyable half hour's talk with Mrs. Roosevelt."

FUGITIVES RESUME REIGN OF TERROR

CHICKASHA, Okla., June 5.—(UP)—Abduction of 10 persons, wounding of a county official, a pitched battle with officers and threats of mob violence were added today to the wave of terrorism spreading through the southwest since convicts mutilated at the Kansas state penitentiary Memorial day.

The week-end violence ended with the capture of Frank Sawyer, one of the 11 convicts who escaped, and his incarceration in the Grady county jail here. Nine of his confederates remained at large.

Sheriff Horace Crisp and Deputy Al Marlow subdued Sawyer on a road near Binger after a bloody encounter in which Robert Goodell, Caddo county clerk, was dangerously wounded.

HARRIMAN ENTERS NOT GUILTY PLEA

NEW YORK, June 5.—(UP)—Joseph W. Harriman, former head of the Harriman National bank, pleaded not guilty to 14 counts of falsifying bank records when arraigned today before Judge Henry W. Goddard.

The ex-banker, who wandered away from a nursing home recently with the expressed intention of ending his own life, and who stabbed himself slightly when he was found in a Long Island Inn the next day, apparently was cast.

"You need not rise," said U. S. Attorney George Z. Medall as the indictment was read. The case was put over until June 19.

STOCK MARKET ISSUES SHOOT UPWARD TODAY

Shorts Forced To Cover As Large Offerings Are Absorbed By Bulls

NEW YORK, June 5.—(UP)—Special issues and several groups made wide gains on the stock exchange today while the main list held firm at moderate gains.

Shorts who made new commitments Saturday when the market gave indication of a sharp technical setback, were forced to bid up stocks when they sought to cover today. They lost heavily.

Postal Telegraph preferred reached 27 up 7 3/8 points. Western Union touched 54 3/4 up 5 and International Telephone 18 1/8, up 2 1/8.

The whole utility group was strong along with the communications. Gains, however, were less spectacular. Several, including Commonwealth & Southern and United Corporation made new 1933 highs.

Alcohol issues were strong in the morning when National Distillers reached 73 7/8 up 5 1/4, and again near the close when U. S. Industrial Alcohol reached 50 1/2 up 3 points.

Allied Chemical was bid up more than 6 points and broad advances were made by other chemical shares.

J. I. Case reached 77 5/8 up 4 7/8 and a new high for the year when the wheat market turned up and closed with gains ranging above a cent a bushel.

Dome led a rally in the gold mining group. It rose more than 3 points to a new high for the year. Other gold mines, except Noranda, followed.

The feature of the afternoon so far as solid buying was concerned, was the railroad group. Atchafalaya, New York Central, Delaware Hudson made new highs for the year at gains ranging to nearly 4 points. Others of the group rose 1 to more than 2 points. Further gains were noted in car loadings reports coming out for the week ended June 3 to be made public Saturday.

American Telephone equaled its high late in the day at 122 3/8 up 3 3/8 points. It failed to carry through that level. U. S. Steel moved in a narrow range. Tickers fell behind late in the day.

ILLINOIS VOTING ON REPEAL TODAY

CHICAGO, June 5.—(UP)—Illinois voters balloted on repeal of the 18th amendment today.

Interest in the dry law in Illinois was at its highest pitch since prohibition became a part of the federal constitution. Close to two million votes were expected to be cast.

Fifty delegates are being selected at large to attend the Illinois repeal convention in Springfield July 10. In Indiana delegates will be chosen by counties today.

MATTERN IS WELL AHEAD OF RECORD

Ace Fifty-One Hours Out Of New York and Three Hours Ahead

PLANS SPEEDY JUMP

Makes Up For Lost Time By Being Forced Down On Norway Coast

BULLETIN MOSCOW, Tuesday, June 5.—(UP)—James Mattern, still ahead of the Post-Gatty around-the-world record, left Moscow at 1:20 a.m. today (6:30 p.m., Monday E.D.T.) headed for Omsk, Siberia, on the third stake of his race against time around the globe.

MOSCOW, June 5.—(UP)—James Mattern landed here from Oslo, Norway, at 3:55 p.m. today on his solo flight around the world.

Mattern made the approximately 1,100 miles from Oslo in seven hours.

His arrival was received with relief, after an anxious vigil of many hours by newspapermen and officials.

The skies had cleared this morning and good weather prevailed after a week of rain.

Mattern was ahead of the Post-Gatty round the world record when he landed here, despite the mishap which forced him to come down at Jomfruland lighthouse, off the island of Kragero, on the southern coast of Norway. He hoped to make up further time by stopping here only briefly.

When he reached here, he was 51 hours, 34 minutes out of New York. When Mattern and Gatty Griffin made their attempt to beat the Post-Gatty record in 1931, they were 35 hours and 18 minutes out of New York, well ahead of the Post-Gatty time, when they crashed in a bog several hundred miles short of Moscow.

Three Hours Ahead Post and Gatty occupied 54 hours 34 minutes elapsed time from New York to Moscow, so that Mattern was just three hours ahead on landing.

He made a perfect landing despite the wet field. He planned to remain here only three or four hours sleeping part of the time, and then proceeding to Novosibirsk, 1,700 miles distant. Post and Gatty remained here nearly 12 hours, giving Mattern a good chance to make up several precious hours by a prompt take-off.

With only three hours sleep since he left Floyd Bennett airport in New York at dawn Saturday, Mattern climbed from his plane looking tired, and with bloodshot eyes.

He cheerfully and smilingly announced his anxiety to start eastward again within a few hours. Aviation officials, foreign correspondents and soviet newspapermen and photographers, after 14 hours of sleepless vigil, cheered Mattern's landing.

Flies Blind He covered the distance from Oslo smoothly, except for part of the way over the Baltic, where he was obliged to fly blind. He entered the soviet union at the Soviet-Estonian frontier.

While Mattern ambitiously hoped to push on to Novosibirsk, 1,700 miles eastward in Siberia, soviet officials suggested it would be better to stop at Omsk, 400 miles short of Novosibirsk. They were almost certain to insist that he follow the southern route, along the Trans-Siberian railway, through Omsk, Novosibirsk, Irkutsk (on Lake Bal-

Placentia Boy Scout Troop Wins Camporal Honors

TO TAKE PART IN REGIONAL MEET IN L. A.

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, June 5. (To the Editor of The Register:) Now we went off the gold that is you had a government bond and it said they would pay you in gold now they won't. Well, it can alibi the situation, but that is repudiation. But they claim it was necessary, and we needed the money. Now if they can do that in an emergency why can't they pass another one to do away with the tax exemptions on all tax exempt bonds. There would be more justice in that, for everybody bought em just to evade the tax. In other words, we knew we were buying a stolen car when we bought it, but that's why we repudiated it. When you repudiate all tax exempt bonds you only beat 'em out 3 or 4 per cent, but when you repudiated the gold, it will take years to find out what you beat him out of.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

JIM MATTERN IN MOSCOW ON WORLD FLIGHT

Describing his trans-Atlantic flight, Mattern said: "It sure was a tough passage over the ocean. Last year's flight was like going to California by comparison."

Mattern said he had first intended to aim for Paris. He found the first 400 miles smooth and then it suddenly "iced up." He tried unsuccessfully to escape the freezing sleet which covered his wings by flying at different levels. He finally decided to change his course northward, "but I only found more ice."

Hits Car Ahead, Cyclist Injured

Slightly cut on one leg, Voral Tilton, 17, 1420 West Washington street, was injured Saturday afternoon when he ran his bicycle into the rear of a car driven by Mrs. Ben Venle, 1107 West Highland avenue.

Mrs. Venle slowed down at the corner of Sixth and Flower streets, according to police reports, and the youth could not avoid hitting the machine. He was able to proceed home without assistance.

INCREASES FOR DISABLED VETS HITS NEW SNAG

In a dramatic midnight ultimatum to Democratic leaders and their insurgent followers, the president declared he would hold congress in session "all summer" if necessary to insure a balanced budget, foundation stone of his plans for national recovery.

Roosevelt Acts
Stinging congressional repudiation of the White House veterans' economy proposals, coupled with senate committee defeat of vital sections of the industrial regulation bill, brought the vigorous action from the chief executive.

The president had counted on saving $420,000,000 by slashing benefits to war veterans, which now total more than twice that sum. The senate eliminated $170,000,000 of this saving by forbidding the president to make reductions of more than 25 per cent in payments to any veteran whose disability is traceable to his war service. There had been every indication the house would approve the senate action, or perhaps even impose a 15 per cent limitation.

The veterans' funds were provided in the independent offices appropriation bill, which had been expected to come up in the house today for a test vote on the senate charges. It appeared probable, however, that action would be delayed while leaders canvassed sentiment of their followers.

Most House leaders promised to fight to the end for support of the veterans' reductions as planned by the president. They felt this an easier alternative than new and unpopular taxation. Some of them believed Mr. Roosevelt's ultimatum might win back the stampeding rank and file. Others believed the tide was swinging so strongly in favor of the veterans that the benefits would be increased anyway.

The president laid down his edict to party leaders at a lengthy conference which began within an hour after his return last night from a Sunday cruise. Mr. Roosevelt's personal secretary and close adviser, Col. Louis Howe, at the same time carried the president's views to the nation in an address, warning that unless the veterans' savings plan were carried through intact, $1.25 of new taxes would have to be levied on every man, woman and child in the nation.

BUSINESS HERE IS IMPROVING, SURVEY SHOWS

exceed the 1932 showings. Deposits Grow
"Deposits of Los Angeles banks affiliated with the Federal Reserve system were 7.5 per cent larger on May 24 than on March 1. Moreover, aggregate deposits were three per cent above the figure for May, 1932. Sales of merchandise by leading department stores were larger during May than in either the preceding month or in the corresponding interval last year. This is the first month since 1929 in which these organizations have exceeded their showings of the preceding year.

"An advance of more than 50 cents per box in the price of oranges was one of the outstanding agricultural events during May. According to present prospects, the crop of Valencia oranges now being harvested will be several thousand carloads larger than last season. Yields of deciduous fruits, walnuts, beans and others are expected to be smaller than in 1932 while prices in most instances will probably be more favorable.

"Out of 24 Southern California cities, exclusive of Los Angeles, from which data was obtained, 16 reported increased business activities, five reported declines and three that no change had occurred. Advancing farm prices should prove of benefit to merchants. Wholesale as well as retail firms showed a gain in volume during May."

P. O. Receipts Up
Dealing with local business conditions, the chamber of commerce report showed that construction for the past month was greater in value than in any month in the preceding year. Postal receipts increased and were 13 per cent higher than last year. Bank deposits and stock exchange transactions were both larger than in April, the first by five per cent and the second by 50 per cent.

"California agriculture," the report stated, "faces better prospects this year than last. The navel orange season is just closing with the market strengthening. Attention is now turning to valencias, and all markets of the country will be uniformly supplied with this fruit during the first week of June under the new proration agreement which has as its objective the regulation of shipments, thereby stabilizing the market situation.

"Warm weather in many Eastern consuming centers during the last two weeks of May brought advances in prices for California lemons. Prices for calavo-avocados have strengthened during the past month. The market for all beans has improved. The sugar beet crops are coming on well. There was a substantial upturn in livestock prices."

WILLIAM MARTIN CALLED BY DEATH

William Alexander Martin, 81, resident of Santa Ana since 1926, died at his home, 1502 West Tenth street, yesterday following an illness of several months duration.

Well known in Santa Ana, the aged man and his widow had celebrated recently their 57th wedding anniversary. He was a member of the Spurgeon Memorial M. E. church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Jane Martin, four sons, E. A. Martin of Panoka, Alberta, Canada, L. E. Martin of Long Beach, William A. Martin Jr. of Eugene, Oregon and M. U. Martin, Santa Ana; four daughters, Mrs. W. H. Stretch and Mrs. F. S. James of Panoka, Mrs. Ross Alexander, of Statesville, N. C., and Mrs. R. R. Zachary of Encinitas, California, besides 23 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the chapel of the Farrell and Brown Funeral home Wednesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church officiating.

Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

program is the most brazen I have ever seen."

The brewers, meantime, are "cheating" drinkers, he believes, because they "are afraid" to put 3.2 per cent of alcohol in their beer.

Sell Near Beer
"The beer they are selling is near beer," he said, "and that is because the brewers fear a real public reaction if they make beer intoxicating."

Nevertheless, McBride continued, he has seen more drunkenness since the return of beer than since the eighteenth amendment became part of the constitution.

"In Cleveland I saw a woman and two small daughters and a drunken husband trying to get into a taxicab," he said. "The husband was a real, old time drunk."

"I saw three other drunken persons at Three o'clock, trying to get on a train. The porter had to help them. I saw two more drunken men in a 25-mile drive I made near Pittsburgh."

"Whether they drank beer or not, they had been drinking something intoxicating and they probably bought it where beer was being sold."

Jouett Shouse, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, McBride said, is vastly mistaken when he claims the liquor laws are doomed.

"When the wets say the fight's won—and with loaded dice at that—they do not know what they are talking about," he added. "Why, the fight has not even begun yet."

The Anti-Saloon league always has fought for the largest possible prohibition. We take what we can get—and then we fight for more.

"We are going to fight as we have never fought before and we are going to keep the 18th amendment in the constitution—where it belongs."

REMOVE CHINESE FOR DEPORTATION

Ten Chinese from El Centro were removed from the Orange county jail this morning, taken to San Pedro, and deported at noon on a ship bound for China. The men have been confined here for the past two weeks awaiting deportation on a charge of illegal entry to the United States.

Two other men were discharged today at the expiration of their terms. Alex Young served 12 1-2 days on an intoxication charge from Newport Beach and Ben Gomez, El Modena, served 30 days for simple assault.

Glenn McWilliams, 42, arrested on a felony charge Friday for passing fictitious checks, has been released from jail on the order of Judge Chris Penn of Huntington Beach, who gave McWilliams one year of probation.

JUDGE LINDSEY AGAIN REFUSED REINSTATING

Two Dissent
Justice Benjamin C. Hillard and Justice Charles C. Butler dissented in the opinion today, which was signed by the other five justices. It was written by Justice Francis E. Bouck.

None of these three men took part in the original disbarment proceedings, Bouck being a new member of the court, and the other two having been absent from the hearings.

The majority decision set forth that on Feb. 14, 1933, Judge Lindsey had filed a petition for reinstatement, and quoted from that petition as follows:

"Your petition believes that your honors should be able to find sufficient merits to reinstate him."

The decision then told of the formal hearing on the reinstatement petition, and said:

"An appeal for mercy is at all times worthy of careful consideration. It would probably have been received with sympathy now had it not been for the conduct and attitude of the petitioner himself since his disbarment."

The decision then recited that in his book, "The Dangerous Life," Judge Lindsey published "most unbridled and venomous language denouncing those members of this

WIFE GETS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Mrs. Myrtle E. Whitaker has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Horace O. Whitaker after she testified before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel as to the alleged cruel treatment accorded her by Whitaker.

Mrs. Daisy Noland of Newport Beach corroborated Mrs. Whitaker's testimony. Mrs. Noland will appear in superior court this month as complaining witness Whitaker on a slander charge as a result of statements it is alleged he made concerning her.

Mrs. Whitaker also accused her husband of securing aid from the Newport Beach Unemployed association in spite of the fact that he was employed as a laborer on the state highway.

The Whitakers were married November 8, 1928, in Santa Ana and separated February 8 last in Newport Beach.

Baumgartner And Traylor Leave On Trip Through East

Chicago will be the immediate objective of J. P. Baumgartner, 1718 North Main street, and his nephew, Harlan Traylor, when they depart tomorrow by Santa Fe, for the exposition city. They plan to spend at least a week in Chicago, visiting the Century of Progress World's fair, and from there will continue to Detroit, where they will purchase a new automobile in which to enjoy the remainder of their tour.

New York and other eastern cities each will claim a share of their attention, and it is possible that they will motor up into New England before seeking the Lincoln highway and a leisurely return to California.

velopment outside the city. They bought the Nickel Plate and went on then from railroad to railroad.

J. P. Morgan & Co. was involved through financing the Chesapeake corporation in 1927 when the Van Sweringen wanted to divest the Nickel Plate of partial control of the Chesapeake & Ohio. Again, in 1929, Morgan financed the Alleghany corporation, a holding company whose stock figures in the "bargain counter" lists which enabled preferred Morgan customers to buy below market prices.

When Van Sweringen testified Morgan surrendered his front row seat and took up a cooler position near a side wall, where a breeze drifted in through a wide window.

Van Sweringen told Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, that J. R. Nutt, now treasurer of the Republican National committee, was associated with him and his brother, C. L. Bradley and others in the purchase of the Nickel Plate in 1916.

The witness continued that he had conferred with Nutt and several others regarding the statement read today and had outlined it to Arthur M. Anderson, Morgan partner, some days ago.

37 PROJECTS SCHEDULED TO BE CONTINUED

Operating under the curtailed allotment of federal funds for work relief in Orange county 600 men will be started to work Thursday morning on 37 municipal and county jobs, according to information released today from the office of Welfare Director B. V. Curry.

With $38,000 available for relief this month the program mapped out under R. F. C. financial aid has been materially curtailed. Under the new program 26 projects in municipalities of the county and 11 county projects will be continued.

In April $50,000 was available and used in Orange county for providing employment for the needy unemployed. This allotment was increased in May to $96,220. The June allotment under the Wagner bill was originally set at $20,000 and later increased to $28,000.

In April Curry, in an effort to get as much money to use as many families as possible provided work for six days to the heads of approximately 3000 families. In June the employment was given out on the basis of dependents with a man receiving eight days work for himself and wife and one day additional for each dependent.

When the June allotment was reduced it was necessary to return to the April program of allotting work and men going to work Thursday will be employed for six days only unless additional funds are made available. Should the government allot additional funds the methods of employment probably will be revised immediately.

Offices Closed

All registrars' offices in the various parts of the county have been closed and the money used for maintaining them will be available for the employment of labor. Assignments under the new plan will be made from the office of Welfare Director B. V. Curry.

Under the new program eight projects will be continued in Santa Ana. They will be: Flood protection along Santiago creek; Olive street bowl; community gardens; weed eradication; cleaning city parks; tree trimming; rodent control; and grading and cleaning school grounds.

Other community projects to be continued are: Orange; work on Glissell street park, grading and cleaning intermediate school grounds, and cutting weeds on street parkings.

Fullerton: Improvement of Hillcrest park and cleaning street margins and storm drains.

Brea: protection of the sewage plant and cleaning weeds from vacant lots and parkways.

Huntington Beach: wrecking of the elementary school damaged by the earthquake, cleaning public beaches, and cleaning parkways and alleys.

Newport Beach: wrecking elementary school auditorium damaged during the earthquake, extension of River avenue and cleaning public beaches.

Laguna Beach: Improvement of streets and trails leading to the public beach.

Tustin: wrecking elementary school damaged during the earthquake.

Anaheim: rodent control.

Placentia: street grading.

County projects to be continued are: Open air auditorium in Irvine park; Limestone Canyon Scout camp, wrecking of Bixby Pitt plant at Olive, Brea Creek flood control project, Carbon Canyon firebreak at La Vista Springs, improvements at Westminster park, State park at San Clemente, State park at Doheny park, Victoria street extension at Costa Mesa and road cleaning in the Second district in the vicinity of Midway City.

Showers which drenched Orange county during the past 24 hours brought more rain to the county in the month of June than the average for the past 53 years, although the seasonal average was still below last year and the average for the 53-year period.

The rainfall, light in most cases, proved to be of little benefit and may have caused some damage to hay in fields and beans which are not up yet, according to agricultural authorities.

A trace of rain fell here on May 25 but the last appreciable amount fell on May 10 and 11 when about a quarter inch fell. The last rain in 1932 was on May 26. A total of .01 inches fell in June, 1930 and some rain has been recorded for June in several years, the average being .03 inches for the month.

The average rainfall for the past 53 years, according to records of the United States weather bureau, for Orange county is 12.83 inches. Santiago dam is the only locality where the average has been passed this year, having a total now of 13.43 inches. All other communities in the county are below the average.

Huntington Beach received the most precipitation during the showers with .26 inches. Newport Beach received .23 inches, Brea .25 inches. Santa Ana received but .10 inches, making the seasonal total 9.80 inches as compared with 15.40 inches for last year.

Preparatory to launching a comprehensive educational campaign on why alcoholic liquors should not be sold in Santa Ana, a workers and volunteers meeting will be held in the Spurgeon Memorial church at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. It was announced today by the Rev. C. D. Hicks, president of the Santa Ana Dry association.

Final plans for the educational campaign, which includes distribution of dry literature and making arrangements for mass meetings with noted speakers to address the meetings, will be completed at the meeting.

Dry workers plan to conduct an active campaign between now and the election on June 27, the Rev. Mr. Hicks said, and on election day will provide transportation to the polls for voters.

COURT HEARS TESTIMONY IN DAMAGE SUIT

Trial of L. D. Reynolds' $26,357 damage suit against Dr. D. A. Harwood, alleging malpractice, started this morning before a jury in department two superior court. Reynolds is asking the heavy damages for pain and suffering and loss of earning power caused, according to his complaint, by an operation started by Dr. Harwood which was never completed.

Selection of a jury to hear the evidence was completed shortly before 11 o'clock and Reynolds was called as the first witness by his attorney L. L. Blodgett. Dr. Harwood is being represented by Attorney O. A. Jacobs.

In his complaint Reynolds charged that on February 19, 1932 he went to Dr. Harwood for treatment of neuritis in his left arm and shoulder. Without warning, according to his complaint, Dr. Harwood started to operate on the right side of his throat.

After making several injections in his throat Reynolds alleges Dr. Harwood stopped and that he could not complete the operation that day. Within 72 hours, Reynolds alleged, infection started and spread through his mouth, throat, jaw, neck and face.

Reynolds charged in his complaint that it was necessary for him to have a portion of his jawbone removed in other operations and have an open drain in his jaw for more than six months.

In his complaint Reynolds declared that his earning power was $10,000 annually and that failure to care for his business for six months while regaining his health cost him $5000. He is also asking for $1167.80 expended for medical, nurses', doctors' and hospital bills, $100 for incidental expenses and $20,000 for pain and agony suffered.

In his answer to the complaint Dr. Harwood generally denied all of the allegations and said that any damage to Reynolds' face was caused by the extraction of teeth and treatment that followed such extraction by doctors and dentists other than himself.

On the witness stand this morning Reynolds testified that when Dr. Harwood examined him he looked in his mouth and informed him that infected tonsils were the cause of his trouble and should be removed. He said that the doctor asked him when it would be convenient to perform the operation and Reynolds said that he told the doctor that he was ready to have it done immediately. Reynolds was still testifying at the noon recess.

MAKING ARREST FOR VIOLATION HANDBILL LAW

Pleading not guilty on a charge of violating the city handbill ordinance, Delbert Davenport, proprietor of the Shopping News, was arraigned this morning before Police Judge J. G. Mitchell, and given time to prepare a case. Date of trial will be fixed later.

Following complaints that distributors of the Shopping News were throwing the publication on lawns and porches in violation of the ordinance, city police made a check Friday and apprehended a young carrier of the advertising sheet who had thrown a copy of the publication on a front lawn of a residence. The ordinance requires that the carrier either give the paper to the owner in person, or have his permission to deliver it by paying for a subscription.

Roland Thompson, attorney for Davenport, asked for a jury trial on the matter. It is reported that he will seek an injunction to restrain the police from interfering with the distribution of the publication until a decision can be handed down. City Attorney Clyde Downing is seeking a trial date as soon as the calendar will permit.

Five persons have been arrested previously and fines levied for violation of the ordinance. Police have announced they will continue to make arrests if necessary.

BOOK FIVE AT COUNTY JAIL ON DRUNK CHARGES

Five men were arrested for drunkenness and lodged in the county jail over the week end with one being released after posting a bond in Tustin.

Province, a lease broker of 414 North Broadway was charged with the violation of the city ordinance prohibiting drunk driving, while Montgomery was arrested for intoxication.

He was released last yesterday afternoon after posting bond in Tustin.

Secondino Dias, 314 Logan street, was taken into custody on an intoxication charge at Logan and Stafford streets at 5:45 o'clock last evening after he was reported to have driven his wife from home with threats to kill her. He was taken to the jail by Officers Harry Pritchard and A. L. Steward.

Jesus Torres, 45, Placentia orange picker, was arrested and charged with possession of liquor by Chief of Police Gus Barnes and Horace Lucy. He was booked at the jail at 11 p. m.

Officer Pete Winslow of Orange arrested Alfred Crow, 42, cook living at 240 South Grand avenue, Orange, and brought him to the jail Saturday night on a drunk charge.

N. Feuntes, 35, laborer of Placentia, was picked up by Deputy Sheriffs C. W. Riggle and E. T. Nichols, for disturbing the peace yesterday afternoon.

TUSTIN H. S. BACCALAUREATE BY REV. KELLY

Rev. Albert Kelly of the United Presbyterian church of Santa Ana in his baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Tustin High school last evening spoke on the theme "Finishing the Transfiguration." The discussion was in part as follows:

"As you know Raphael's 'The Transfiguration' is one of the greatest paintings in all the world. But we are told that this masterpiece was but half finished when Raphael died. He had completed the upper portion with marvelous skill and artistry but had barely outlined the lower when stricken by death. The glory of the mountain tops was there but the valley experience below was in but sketchy outline.

"The question on the lips of all the painters, friends and pupils was, 'Who will finish the transfiguration?' Now the story goes that there was a pupil of Raphael's by the name of Romano. He had been associated with the master artist for a great many years. He had lived with him, talked with him, worked with him, caught his spirit and come to understand his working plans. He was asked to finish the painting. He consented and gave himself to the task. He studied the original drawings and sketches. He lived in the presence and in the atmosphere of the painting. He dedicated all the powers of brain and hand and heart to his task. He won a signal triumph. So well did his work blend with that of the master that it is difficult to discover that the work is not all the work of one artistic hand. And so it is during the years since Romano has shared with Raphael the rewards of the world's esteem.

Real Life's Work
"Finishing the transfiguration"—after all is not that the life work of every one of us? If not that, I ask, else wherefore born? Twenty and more years ago—how fast a pace time sets for herself—almost this very date in the month of June my college president stood before our senior class in that smaller college of the mid-west on a sabbath afternoon and delivered our baccalaureate sermon.

"Some experiences one does not easily forget. That day, that hour, that occasion, that sermon, that text are vivid to me still. The text was from the Book of Esther. The text was the question proposed by Mordecai to his niece Esther—'Who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?' Members of the graduating class of 1933, I propose that question to you this night. And your task—to finish the transfiguration, that is to share in so far as God appoints you ability and opportunity in the doing of that.

"God, the master artist, has had before Him from the beginning the picture of this world of ours transfigured, the restoration of 'Paradise Lost,' the establishment of the Kingdom of God upon earth, to be consummated in a new heaven and a new earth. Some day the dream will become reality; some day the promise will be fulfilled; some day the Kingdom shall have come; some day His will shall be done upon earth as it is done in heaven. But before that day God would have us become fellow artists of His. He would use us to do His work in the world. He would appoint us, equip us, and give us opportunity to hasten the finishing of the transfiguration. My young men and women, the very heart of my appeal to you is to put yourselves, your bodies, your hearts, your all into the hands of God to be used by Him as He will, that whatever your place, your profession, your work, you may share in the achievement of the high and holy purpose of the Eternal.

Two Requirements
"To finish the transfiguration—there are at least two requirements of you and me if we are to share in that achievement. They are presented over and over again in the eleventh chapter of the Epistle to the Hebrews. Those men and women of the long yesterday, those heroes, walk across these pages of the Book, dauntless and doers of work and faith. If we are to do what God would have us do in our day and generation we must meet these two fundamental requirements, work and faith.

"First, work. We are given talents to be used in work. We are granted time to be spent in work. We are set tasks that require work. This is a work-a-day world into which we have come. It was fiat of the Eternal in the beginning that by the sweat of the brow we are to eat our earned bread. I realize that this word—work—has a peculiar sound in these days when there are millions in America not able, if they will and wish, to find productive work to do. But this is but a 'strange Interlude.' It too will pass. Depression cannot change the Divine plan that work is our appointed lot.

"Our social order is not an amalgamated association for the avoidance of activity, but a conscientious company of perspiring co-operators. And then, Faith. We sketch through the eleventh chapter of Hebrews again. It is like walking through an art gallery to look upon the portraits of the worthies of another day. They are before us—Abel, Enoch, Noah, Abraham, Moses, and the others. Do we ask, 'What was the secret of their greatness, the dynamic force of their endeavor?' It is here before us. It was their faith.

"Some years ago Bruce Barton recorded in the American Magazine an account of an interview of his with the late Cardinal Gibbons of the Catholic church. He had asked the prelate to give an Easter message to the young men of America. In answer he said this:—'Young men, expect great things. I have almost three times the average age of your readers. I have seen men climb to success, hundreds of them and of all the elements important for success, the most important is faith. Those who throw up their hands in discouragement when the first snow flies fail to profit when the sunshine of spring returns. And no great thing comes to any man unless he has courage even in the dark days to expect great things.'

"Faith is the word—faith in yourselves, your fellows and your God."

Christian Science

"God the Only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist.

One of the Scriptural selections included these verses from John: "And as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth. And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind? Jesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents; but that the works of God should be made manifest in him. As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world. When he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay, and said unto him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, (which is by

WORK, DESTINY OF LEAGUE IS SERMON TOPIC

"Is it not wonderful to see nations who a few years ago were in deadly combat now joining hands, as far as possible to eliminate another war? There is every season why Christians everywhere should pray that God may bless these lofty aims to the end that war at least will be delayed to a future time. The object of the movement is to establish the world in peace for all time to come. There has never been a period in the history of the world when the cry, from almost every nation, for peace has gone up to God as it has in the past five years. These were among the opening remarks of Evangelist B. R. Spear at the Seventh Day Adventist church last night in presenting the subject 'The Work and Destiny of the League of Nations in Prophecy.' The sermon in part follows:

"The Bible is most explicit in its prophecies concerning this very condition. The sad part of the inspired picture is that the nations will fail for two scriptural reasons. 1. The Bible states that world peace will become universal only in the Kingdom of God which follows the second coming of Christ (Rev. 11:15) and 2, the universal kingdom of peace will be established, not by statesmen, nor leagues of nations, politics nor scrapping of navies and demobilization of armies, but by the preaching of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, the converting of individual sinners to Christ and the transporting of those thus saved into interpretation, sent.) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came sealing."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "The Christian Scientist, understanding scientifically that all is mind, comes on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay, and said unto him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, (which is by the kingdom of glory when established.

Inspiration Calls "Beware"

"Just at this time when the nation are fervently crying for peace, yet forging ahead in preparation for war, inspiration is calling out 'beware.' For when they shall say peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them and they shall not escape." Thus Paul gives this outstanding condition as one of the great signs of Christ's coming kingdom.

"The prophet Isaiah paints a graphic picture in the eighth chapter of his prophecy of the gathering of the nation at the very time when God's people are praying and waiting for Christ to come. Notice the significant wording of the prophecy, 'Sanctify the Lord of hosts himself; and let Him be your fear and let Him be your dread. And I will wait upon the Lord, that he may hide his face from the house of Jacob, and I will look for Him.' At the same time his sanctified people are waiting and looking for him Isaiah says of the nations, 'Associate yourselves, O ye people, and ye shall be broken in pieces; and give ear, all ye of far countries; gird yourselves, and ye shall be broken in pieces; gird yourselves and ye shall be broken in pieces. Take counsel together, and it shall come to naught; speak the word, and it shall not stand.' Ponder the thrice repeated verdict of God in this message.

"Isaiah also declares Christ to be the 'Prince of Peace.' Jesus when on earth said, 'Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you.' It is seen that the peace brought about by treaties and statesmen is one kind of peace and the peace of Christ is another kind obtained only by conversion and personal salvation in Jesus. The Savior makes that plain in these words, 'These things I have spoken unto you, that in Me ye might have peace.'"

Hold Nations in Check

Spear pointed out that in Revelation 7:1-3 God was using this movement for peace as a means to hold the nations in check from Armageddon until the Gospel is finished, "Then cometh the end." In Rev. 21:24 the speaker called attention to the league of nations of the saved in the kingdom of God made possible only by conversion and regeneration through Christ's blood.

"The great controversy is ended," he said. "Sin and sinners are no more. The entire universe is clean. One pulse of harmony and gladness beats through the vast creation. For Him who created all, flow life and light and gladness, throughout the realms of space. From the minutest atom to the greatest world, all things, animate and inanimate, in their unshadowed beauty and perfect joy, declare that God is Love."

New Tunnel Gives New Yosemite Park Vista

Completion of a tunnel on the new Wawona road entrance to Yosemite National Park not only gives easier access to this wonderland from Fresno and Merced, Calif., but gives this new view of the floor of the valley. El Capitan, Half Dome, Cloud Rest, the Three Graces, Bridal Veil Falls and other scenic points are easily seen. An historical Pageant of Progress will be held June 10 at the eastern portal of the tunnel to celebrate the new entrance.

MOLLISONS DELAY START OF JOURNEY

LONDON, June 5.—(UP)—Contemplating adverse weather reports, James and Amy Johnson Mollison, Britain's foremost flying couple, postponed today the start of a journey called here the "greatest flight in the history of aviation." They plan to fly to New York and after one day of rest to take off on a non-stop flight to Aleppo, Arabia. After a brief rest there they hope to fly non-stop back to London. The total distance is 12,000 miles. The Mollisons hoped the weather would be sufficiently favorable to permit a start Tuesday.

ANAHEIM PERSONALS

ANAHEIM, June 5.—Among the students returning this weekend from the University of Southern California are Joe Bushard, Arvil Morris, Lila Shulte, Nelle Grafton, Helen Houck, Grace Houck, John Eley. Miss Phyllis Browne of Los Angeles was the weekend guest of Mrs. Fred Yoern of 515 East Broadway street. Miss Browne formerly resided here. The A. B. Paul Women's Relief Corps will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. hall. All members are requested to be present.

Church Societies

Garden Party

A garden party on the grounds of the J. R. Moore home, 424 West Second street, was given last week by Southeast and Southwest sections of First Presbyterian Aid society, complimenting women of the Northwest and Northeast divisions. The hostess groups had been losers in a recent membership contest.

Entertainment arranged for the occasion was especially delightful. A play written by Dorothy Hall Pitman, "Defiance on the Back Steps," was given by a cast including Mrs. Pitman, mother; Miss Dorothy Flaherty, daughter; Frank Lansdown, father; Eldon Winters, son; the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, minister; Eugenia Bond, small daughter; Eleanor Dietrich, little neighbor girl.

Concluding the program, Mrs. Pitman sang an original composition. During the afternoon guests divided into groups according to their native states for a stunt program, and it was found that Ohio, Illinois and Iowa had the largest representations.

Ice cream and cake were served. Decorations included colorful paper parrots perched on trees of the garden, and larkspur and other flowers arranged in tall baskets throughout the yard. Beach umbrellas provided shade.

On the hostess committee were

Mrs. Charles Gammell and Mrs. E. C. Gaebbe were on the refreshment committee.

About 160 members took part in the affair.

S. A. STUDENT DIES SUDDENLY OF MENINGITIS

Death came suddenly this morning for Elmer W. Manning, 18-year-old Santa Ana Poly high school youth, who died of spinal meningitis, at the Orange county hospital where he was rushed after he was taken ill Saturday night.

Manning, who would have graduated from high school this month, took tests for junior college college work Saturday and Sunday night went to Balboa, apparently as well as he had been all his life. He developed a chill and ran a high fever Sunday and his death came suddenly this morning.

Well known at high school, he was business manager of the high school Engineers' club and a member of the Owl's club. He had lived in Santa Ana six years.

The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude N. Manning, of 729 South Broadway. He is also survived by three brothers, P. D. Manning, C. N. Manning Jr., and Albert S. Manning, all of Santa Ana, and three sisters, Ethel Manning of Santa Ana, Mrs. Kathleen Torrance of Orange and Mrs. Martha Parker of Oakland.

Funeral services have not been arranged yet but will be held at a date to be announced later by the Harrell and Brown Funeral home.

ARREST PAIR ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Cold, sleepy, and out of gasoline, C. Wayne Crumrine, 23, and Ernest Crumrine, 25, brothers living at 707 North Spurgeon street, were arrested for burglarly yesterday after breaking into a filling station at 1304 East Fourth street.

Appearing before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison this morning, the men were ordered to appear for trial Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Judge Morrison released them yesterday after the arrest, which was made when the men returned to the service station to pay for the window they smashed in gaining entrance.

According to the police report, the two brothers slept all night in the station when they ran out of gasoline. After eating some candy, they told a neighbor woman they would return to pay for the window. Officer J. F. McWilliams was waiting when they returned and made the arrest. Albert E. Blake, 427 Linnwood avenue, is owner of the station.

MOTORS TAKEN AND PHONE BOX ROBBED

Two burglaries yesterday, one involving the theft of two motors from the old Princess theater, and the other the robbing of a pay telephone in the Pacific Electric depot, were being investigated by city police today.

C. E. Walker, 511 West Third street, owner of the Princess theater at 218 East Fourth street, reported that two small motors were missing when the building was visited yesterday.

The thief who robbed the depot telephone was forced to pry open a window and then pull the phone from the wall of the booth, the act taking place sometime between 8 and 10:50 p. m. last night. P. E. Woodside, agent, discovered the burglary this morning when he unlocked the station, which is located at 423 East Fourth street. The phone was not removed out the money was taken out. Sergeant W. E. B. Sherwood and Detective Sergeant C. W. Wolford could find no fingerprints on the phone or window.

MANY OFFICIALS ATTEND BIG FARM PICNIC; BROCK'S WORK IS LAUDED BY MANY SPEAKERS

Featured by the presence of members of the state board of agriculture and other notables, more than 800 Orange County Farm Bureau members and their families attended the annual picnic Saturday at Irvine park.

Prior to the lunch period, a 50-piece 4-H club band under the direction of Professor Barrows of La Habra entertained the large crowd.

Following introduction of farm center presidents, committee chairmen and department heads, President Ralph J. McFadden introduced noted guests, including A. A. Brock, state director of agriculture and former Orange county agricultural commissioner, who was the honored guest at the event.

A telegram from Governor Rolph was read, expressing regret that he could not be present. The governor was personally represented at the meeting by Joe Smith, Santa Ana, state real estate commissioner. A telegram was read from Peter Meyhan, of the state board of agriculture, expressing regret at not being able to attend and declaring his stand for a decrease in power rates to farmers.

Leon Whitsett, member of the state railroad commission, expressed his appreciation for his reappointment to the commission and declared himself in favor of a reduction in the rates of public utilities. He said an investigation was being conducted and if it is determined that utilities can lower rates they will be reduced.

Whitsett introduced Dr. J. H. Walker, member of the state board of agriculture, who spoke briefly of the benefits agriculture will derive from recent legislative relief measures. He said that farmers now need a system of distribution so they can make a legitimate profit.

Various speakers lauded Brock for his work since he has been state director of agriculture. A. B. Miller, president of the state board of agriculture, told of Brock's work in reducing the department budget by a million dollars.

President Miller also spoke of the national legislative program for the relief of farmers, pointing out that plans were being formed to leave the operation and control of the measure in local groups. In California, he said, this control will be vested in a committee of five members.

Joe Smith, real estate commissioner, informed the assembly that he would ask Governor Rolph to sign the Orange county water bill which has been passed by the state legislature. He said he was interested in tax reduction, water problems and other state problems as well as keeping real estate brokers and salesmen straight.

R. W. Blackburn, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, discussed in detail the national program for the relief of agriculture, pointing out that the program adopted was through the work of the Farm Bureau.

"This bill," he said, "will allow control of any commodity in distress. The orange pro-rate deal has been put over but the problem is far from being solved until a more orderly marketing system is worked out with Florida and Texas. I suggest that work be started to accomplish that. Pro-rate here means a wonderful market for Florida and Texas oranges."

"The basic reason for the passage of the measure was to raise the price of agricultural commodities at pre-war levels and to keep them there. The inflation rider on the bill will provide credit expansion and will keep the dollar value in line with prices."

Blackburn predicted a bright future for agriculture if production is cut to meet consumption.

A. A. Brock spoke briefly of his work as state director of agriculture, dealing mainly with the department budget. He pointed out that the assembly ways and means committee had slashed his budget by more than $400,000 after he had cut it voluntarily by more than $1,000,000, thereby eliminating many important functions. He lauded Senator Edwards for his work in restoring most of the money cut off by the committee.

He mentioned several bills of importance to agriculture which have not been signed by the governor. He held that it was a mistake for the legislature to try to control quarantine matters.

Various county officials and state legislators were introduced during the program, which ended with a series of sports programs in charge of H. J. Hinrichs. E. E. Campbell was in charge of general arrangements for the picnic.

PLAN FOR SHORT CUT TO BEACH BEING PUSHED

With the cut-off between South Main street in Santa Ana, and Corona Del Mar, a road projected for several years, now placed in the state's secondary highway program, efforts are being made by chambers of commerce in Newport, Anaheim, Garden Grove and Fullerton to complete another short line to the Newport Harbor district, according to word from the beach city today.

This is the Fairview short line from Newport and Balboa, via Costa Mesa to the three inland cities. The completion of this highway would shorten by several miles the distance from these cities to the five miles of public ocean beach maintained by Newport Beach and also would relieve traffic congestion to a large extent, it is said by proponents of the plan.

The 14-mile stretch from Anaheim to Newport is practically all paved, except for two or three miles. It has been suggested that R. F. C. funds be used to aid in finishing the work.

The extension of Santa Ana's South Main street from the Martin airport to the Coast highway at Corona del Mar will provide a new short route between Santa Ana and inland communities to Corona del Mar and South Coast cities.

It was reported today that Newport Beach will receive R. F. C. funds this month to complete demolition of the auditorium of the grammar school, damaged by the quake, also clear away the old refinery at West Newport and clean up the beaches. These projects will employ 33 men.

During May the weeding and cleaning up of parkways in Corona del Mar was completed, as well as improving the parkways on Balboa Island.

REV. R. R. RAYMOND CALLED BY DEATH

Word has been received here of the death of the Rev. R. R. Raymond, 79, former pastor of the South Methodist church at Talbert, who passed away in Melrose, New Mexico, Thursday.

A resident of Orange county for 25 years, the Rev. Raymond had many friends in this vicinity. He had been away from the county for the past 15 years.

Besides his work as a minister, the Rev. Raymond was known as a rancher and a merchant. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. G. F. Hulso, of 1133 South Ross, Santa Ana; a son, R. R. Raymond Jr., of 1001 West Sixth, Santa Ana; and relatives in Sacramento.

Mrs. Nora Huffman Called By Death

Mrs. Nora J. Huffman, 58, resident of Santa Ana for the past six years, died yesterday following an extended illness.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Lillian Smith of Santa Ana, with whom she made her home; Mrs. John T. Crawford of Tustin and Mrs. Mayhew T. Troutt, of Medina, Ohio.

Funeral services will be held from the chapel of the Winbigler Funeral home, 609 North Main street, Wednesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. George A. Warner, minister of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment will be made in Santa Ana cemetery.

PROLOGUE

Quiet reigned in the big, high-ceilinged, old-fashioned room with its comfortably worn furniture, richly dark hangings and blazing open fire. Two men—outwardly, at least, enjoying their silent companionship—sat reading and smoking before the smoldering logs. Each occupied a deep, luxurious chair, so high of back that only the tops of two heads showed from the room behind them.

It was quiet there in the old remodeled house in a half-forgotten corner of the city—a house built in a day when outside sounds were less but walls were better equipped to repel them, when neighbors' doings were not common property and one could live for years without giving them, in turn, any great knowledge of one's comings and goings.

Quiet . . . except for an occasional stir and thump when a burned log parted and showered out the sparks . . . and except for the subdued yet irritating creak-creak-creak of shoe leather as the foot of one crossed leg, poised before the fire, automatically circled back and forth on a narrow arc and at times stopped, emphasizing the slight sound by its temporary cessation.

The owner of the foot sometimes cracked the pages of his evening paper with a quick, nervous meaningless gesture which never failed to bring up the other man's head sharply—only to have the frown smoothed out by an immediate effort of will as his eyes dropped again to his book. His apparent wish to concentrate on its pages seemed to escape the notice of his more restless companion who, as he skimmed through the paper, frequently interjected a low exclamation, a muttered comment, on the news before his eyes. Suddenly he came to something which caught and held his interest.

"Hmp!" he exclaimed. "They say now that truck driver didn't kill the girl in the Harlem store. Seems he has an air-tight alibi."

"Yes?"

The other's voice was smooth, expressionless. It simply filled the gap left for some sort of response.

"Um . . . but no one else'd have any motive, they say . . . looking now for a homicidal maniac."

"Yes?" Again a colorless tone, yet under its surface courtesy lurked more than a suggestion of irritation.

"Uh-huh. That changes the whole case. A lunatic's another thing again. That is, I suppose the man's a lunatic. Nowadays they divide the types of insanity into such different classifications. But psychology's your line, not mine—"

THERE was the respite of a few moments' silence, then the foot began to move again, back and forth, back and forth, its faint squeak, squeak-creak creaking through the quiet room. The meter was not quite regular, not quite what a listener would subconsciously expect. It stopped . . . it started . . . broke its rhythm . . . the paper crackled suddenly with a stiff rattle.

Then the voice went on again, comfortable, relaxed, indolent.

"Just what is a homicidal maniac?"

"This!"

So quickly, so quietly had the other risen that he was standing over the man in the chair before a single startled upward look could more than catch the fixed glare of the eyes and the inhuman, teeth-baring grin. There was a tense, animal-like spring . . . the foot twitched convulsively once . . . the warm leather squeaking suddenly . . . and was still.

Utterly still. As the room was utterly quiet. No creaking, restless rhythm, no rattling pages. The newspaper lay where it had fallen from an inert hand.

The old house was quiet, too. The four-story building with its single apartments on each floor boasted no hall service. There was no one to see a well-groomed, well set-up man—a recently arrived visitor—leave the apartment of one of the tenants, carrying a brief case and a portmanteau of somewhat traveled appearance.

The man paused in the lower hall to light a cigaret with steady, competent fingers, and again on the front steps to consult his watch by the light of the overhead lamp. Somehow he conveyed the idea of a man about to take a late night train, yet one unhurried and with plenty of time to make it comfortably. He started off with the same business-like briskness toward the nearest subway station. The house where no one was given occasion to mind the business of another remained decently dark and quiet behind his undramatic departure.

THE man in the railroad car stirred uneasily as the rattle of a newspaper from across the aisle brought a sudden, unwelcome flash of suggestion and memory. Then he smiled a little, with a trace of self-satisfaction.

That was the most recent—well, act in defense of his own comfort and peace of mind. Like others, it had been a complete, uneventful success.

There had been the incident of the covertly insolent porter on the White Mountain express—and the convenient curve around which the bouncing little train had swung, flinging off the insolent porter and, it appeared, also very nearly losing a passenger. The passenger had just stepped from the parlor car to go forward to the smoker of the little country train as it hurried toward the junction where its important coaches were transferred to the big through flyer. When others, attracted by the passenger's shout of warning, hurried to the scene of the accident he could only suggest that the porter, betrayed by familiarity into carelessness, must have lost his balance at the unexpected lurch—just as he himself very nearly had. The explanation was so patently the truth that there was no further inquiry into the matter.

There had been that whining, crying baby in India—strange what a fuss people made over a child already half dead from heat and improper feeding . . . a nuisance to itself and to everyone else!

And the woman who would tease for jade when he had brought her amethysts—!

And now, just recently, this persistent, obviously, dull-minded individual with his itching curiosity about things that didn't concern him and his exasperating, infuriating little personal habits—that way of clearing his throat, of rattling his newspaper, of squeaking his shoes in two-four rhythm and then suddenly breaking it off, holding the foot in suspense, starting in again in a different meter.

Well—all neatly disposed of—without undue trouble or excitement. At least none that touched him. After all, how silly to put too great a value on human life! Molecules all—but for the sake of those who went on living, the more annoying molecules should be eliminated. Surely that was the highest sanity.

Sanity—as the word crossed his mind, the man again moved restlessly. Then through the open window came a breath of the sea and he relaxed and smiled with complete, tranquil pleasure. A lovely part of the country this—Long Island—and the holiday week-end offered a pleasant interlude as a guest in a comfortable, almost luxurious home, with charming host and hostess. The water . . . The garden . . . the refreshingly cool nights. Why bother about the past? The present promised delightfully. Life could be decidedly agreeable—and this was one of its most agreeable phases.

CHAPTER I

"HELLO, Tommy! I'm so glad you got home before any of the company came!"

Linda Averill, piling her husband with myriad bundles from the little roadster, found her husband acting as butler at the open door of their recently acquired Long Island home. Beyond him, even as they kissed, she caught a glimpse of cool, open, shadowed hallway, a flower-laden table in the center of the room beyond, and through doors opposite, a blue-green vista of shore and Sound. It was a lovely place, this White Haven, and the nicest husband went with it—!

The nicest husband—looking extremely handsome in his rather debonair sporting clothes—was gathering up the bundles that still remained in the little blue car.

"Wherever did you get all this truck—!" he grumbled. "Thought you said this morning you were all ready for the gang to arrive?"

"Oh—people do forget things. Cook and Nanna—and I do myself."

"And anyhow, it's a nice day and a run over to Port—"

"Exactly. Carry this in, too, that's a dear. Careful! It's shrimps! How long've you been here?"

"Half an hour or so. Came on the 3:11 and walked up. Decided I'd better be here before anyone arrived. You always have half a dozen things to tell me to remember not to forget." He grinned wickedly.

"Pig!" Well—this time there are a few."

"Shoot!"

She had pulled off her driving gloves, looking ridiculously little beside his heavy leather ones on the hall bench. A crushed red turban was slammed down beside them and her brown, capable little fingers ran wildly through short, curly, heat-matted hair.

"Whew! It's hot when you're not in motion! Come out on the front lawn—there's time. We're in for a regular Fourth of July spell, I guess. Why, there's the boat!"

"Hennessy ran her up to the anchor an hour ago." Averill's voice showed his pride in the trim little cabin-cruiser dancing in the small bay before the house. "Glad he rushed the job through—I imagine we'll keep her humming most of the week-end."

"Well—things have changed a bit."

Dropping as easily as a child to the soft grass, Linda pulled gently at the ears of an infirm old terrier which had come trotting up to join them as soon as they appeared on the terraced lawn. The old dog puffed heavily after the exertion of the short, waddling run.

"Tom," Linda broke off suddenly, "poor old Bunty's getting blinder and deafier and wheezier every day."

"Yes. We must do something . . . wait until the end of summer, though."

THE old dog flopped over by Linda's knees in the outstretched abandon of utter comfort. Hearing her name mentioned, she wagged her absurd tail lazily. The two humans, feeling the treachery of their thoughts, petted her with sudden, guilty tenderness.

"I never thought I could bear to have an asthmatic old dog around me," said Linda sadly, "and now I can't bear the idea of putting her away."

"Well—the summer may make a difference," her husband offered vaguely. Then, remembering the trend of the conversation, he seized upon it to leave the unwelcome subject.

"You said things had changed. Anyone back out?"

"Someone backed in. You remember. Cousin Amos Peabody. That distant relative person from Boston? Due to arrive any moment . . . driving out from town."

He whistled silently.

"Whee-ew! That does complicate things. With all these strange men on your hands. Not that, as I recall him, Cousin Amos isn't strange enough. Binks, my child, why did you make it such a field day for unknowns?"

"Thought we might as well get all these duty visits off our list. After all, you started it with those two unknowns—the European perfume man and your office manager from the midwestern plant. I must learn their names before they come!"

Linda was sometimes secretly amused by the enthusiasm with which her husband fulfilled his social as well as business duties as sales manager of a flourishing "beauty concern," but she knew that the importance in its line was due almost as much to his whole-souled interest as to the dynamic personality of the amazing little woman whom the public knew as "Valeska." Valeska (in unofficial moments she answered to a name of less exotic character) had seized with characteristic acumen upon the Averills' recent inheritance of a lovely Long Island place to make it an asset of her own business. Nothing loath to earn the substantial assistance of her liberal allowance for entertainment, the young couple had become accustomed to frequent visits from home and foreign celebrities, prospective business associates and important clients.

"The 'perfume man' is a Belgian," instructed Tom solemnly. "Not French, remember—he's touchy about that. DeVos is his name. Very gracious and charming . . . quite the Continental, but a big fellow . . . six foot he-man. His uncle's one of the outstanding European perfume overlords. Valeska and he have been negotiating over the exclusive American rights to some very toney perfumes. This nephew will probably close the deal before he goes back."

"Statlander's the middle-westerner—Valeska brought him on to talk about some trouble in the plant. I'm afraid he won't be thrilled with the Belgian (though that wouldn't occur to Valeska) because he considers the home-made creams and lotions the backbone of the business, and has no patience with foreign stuff. I don't know him at all but I understand he's very self-important, so don't get his name wrong, for heaven's sake!"

"Statlander—Statlander—I'll remember. Well, to answer your question and account for the other two, after we were all set with your men over the Fourth I heard that Ella Mondell didn't know what to do with that Irish writer person who's speaking at the poetry meeting this afternoon on the promise of a Long Island week-end."

"That was his topic?" interrupted her husband idly.

"Nut! That was his pay. Well, Ella was desperate—with Polly sick and her family coming down over the holiday—and it isn't as if they really knew him or he them. We have the room and I gather he's amusing. His name's Lian Shaughnessey—that's for you to remember! Then when I met Marvin Pratt in town last week and heard he was in this part of the world for the first time in 12 years—"

"DID you start your love affairs in your cradle?" asked her husband incredulously. "Here you've held him up to me as a pre-war suitor! How early did you begin getting sentimental over the boys, anyhow?"

"I didn't get sentimental—he did all of that! And I'm no such infant as it flatters you to make me out, Tom Averill," answered his wife with dignity. "After all, I'd worked for years—well, several years—before we met. Any anyhow, Marvin lived next door to us and we went to the same school—he is older than I am, six or seven years maybe—"

"Oh, yes, I can see he dates back pretty far. Well, it'll be amuse-ing to meet an ex-rival . . . except perhaps you'll wish you hadn't let him go roving all over the world so that I could snatch you up."

An eloquent glance dismissed his pretense of meekness. They were still much in love, this very modern pair, in spite of their three years of married life.

"Roving," said Linda, "is a word I never could apply to Marvin. He's altogether too serious for anything so—so vagabondish. Whatever he does, or wherever he travels, you may be sure he does it with a high moral purpose."

"Umm! Sometimes those highly moral boys kid themselves that whatever they want to do is the best thing for all concerned. I wonder how he'll mix with the insouciant DeVos and the important Mr. Statlander! At any rate, they'll all have one thing in common—travel. Of course there are two Europeans—the Belgian and your wild Irisher—and Statlander's a nut on big game hunting. At least he says he is. He doesn't look the part, but I know he's been all over the world. Poor Cousin Amos! He does so disapprove of anything or anybody 'furrin'!"

"Yes, I'm afraid he won't find the company congenial."

"He doesn't find anyone congenial. How did he happen to drop into this any how, honey?"

"Telephoned from New York. Down from Marblehead for a directors' meeting or something. Has to stay till after the Fourth. Naturally, I couldn't—"

"Of course you couldn't help it. Don't worry. At least, not having any idea what any one of our guests is like, we can't be expected to guarantee them to each other. Where are you going to put them all?"

"That's it!" Linda looked up reproachfully at the broad, dignified front of the house as though blaming it for her difficulty. "That's why I'm specially glad you came early, I mean. Things have happened and happened plenty since you left for town this morning. First place, Cousin Amos makes an extra—"

"But the nursery's free."

"Yes—but after Nanna finally got off with Bingo this morning—honestly, Tom, he is such a lamb! Well, anyhow, they got off all right and your mother phoned they'd arrived and Bingo was already in the new little red-and-blue striped bathing suit—"

"Skip the maternal raptures and stick to the housing problem," urged her husband.

"YES. I sent Annie to fix the nursery and, my dear, it was wrecked! Either she or Rosie—I can't pin them down—let the bath tub upstairs overflow and it leaked through under the floor and down on the nursery ceiling and down the sides of the walls. It's all big damp patches and the man came and said it might fall—the ceiling, I mean—and nobody should sleep there till he could get back to fix it. And heaven knows when that will be—until after the Fourth, when they've all gone!"

"Hmp! Well?"

"I've worked it out the best I can. We can't ask any of them to double up, not knowing each other. I gave Mr. DeVos the best room—at the far end of the hall—and Uncle Amos the guest room with the little private lavatory. Marvin Pratt's across from him in the smaller room. He won't feel discriminated against—he likes to be unselfish. He and Mr. DeVos will have to share the bath. Then I put Mr. Statlander next to where he has the bath at that end all to himself which I thought would make up for his not having a larger room. I didn't want to hurt anyone's feelings."

"And how about the literary man? Was he to have the nursery?"

"No—I meant to put him in Marvin's room and Marvin in the nursery, but the mess spoiled that. I've put him in the garage!"

"Heavens, Binks! But then—"

"It's perfectly comfortable and the bedroom has a better view than most of the house rooms. He'll have it all to himself—that little suite upstairs. He can sit up all night if he wants to. Read or write—literary people are so uncertain."

"Especially Irish literary people," added Tom gloomily.

"I thought it might appeal to him. It would to lots of men. You, for instance."

"Me? Sure—I'd love it. It wouldn't do for Statlander or the Belgian. Or even Marvin, coming back into your life for the first time in years and years and being shoved off to the chauffeur's quarters."

"Tom Averill! Whatever you do, don't call it that, especially before he sees it! It's attractive enough for anyone, with all our first apartment furniture in it—that blessed place!"

"We did have a grand time being poor, didn't we? Though I can endure a Long Island house in summer very nicely. Still and all, with this white elephant, I often feel poorer than I did paying a landlord once a month."

"Heavens, yes! And how'll I explain our apparent wealth to Cousin Amos?"

"A bit on the frugal side, isn't he?" agreed Tom. "Be sure to rub it in about the allowance for entertainment I get from the office. DeVos and Statlander are a case in point. Good gosh! He had looked at his watch. 'It's time I started for the station to meet those two. Gas enough in the other car? I'll put away the roadster, if you like.'"

"Um-hum. Thanks." She followed him through the cool middle room, with flowers fragrant on every table and stand. After her pattered Bunty, silently over the rugs, her tiny nails clicking elfinly on patches of bare, polished floor. "Tommy, I saw the grandest car at the Port today—only been run 1500 miles. Absolutely new, my dear—and he'll sell it—"

"Hold it!" commanded her husband threateningly. "No new cars while Old Reliable holds out to run. Sell the white elephant and I'll talk any kind of a vehicle you want. Till then Old Reliable stays with us!" and he spun the gravel viciously under the quick, accurate backward plunge of the shiny little roadster to the garage.

NESTS MADE BY SWALLOWS NEAR SANTIAGO DAM

ORANGE, June 5.—A colony of swallows has taken possession of an overhanging cliff near the Santiago dam and according to C. B. Redmond, the keeper of the dam, about 150 nests have been made and are now occupied by anxious parent birds awaiting the arrival of hungry fledglings. This is the first time that swallows have been seen in the Santiago canyon, Redmond says.

Since the arrival of the swallows, the innets, which were present in large numbers, have almost disappeared. It is said. The cliff is above the dam and cannot be reached by motor. Visitors are not welcome to members of the colony for when Redmond and George Bartley, constable of Orange county, visited the cliff recently, they were greeted with protesting cries from the birds.

Buzz is the same-run hero in Baltimore, and he hit in 29 straight games for Toronto. . . Bill Rothron, Princeton's headliner on the track, is lauded as the greatest miler in the country by Lawson Robertson. . . Jack Kearns is one of the villains in the piece. . . at that time Kearns was managing a heavy-weight named Bonds. . . and had arranged a show in which Bonds was to slap down a couple of bums the same evening.

Dempsey did not show up to fight Bonds the next night. . . not that he wouldn't have loved to step in and belt Bonds out. . . but the fact that Kearns, Bonds' manager, wouldn't trust him with a two-buck advance got his goat. . . Several years later Doc Kearns returned to Kansas City with another heavyweight he was trying to hallyho to a match with Jess Willard. . . this time Kearns' heavyweight was Jack Dempsey. . . your friend. . . the promoter.

SURVEYING CURRENT SPORTS IN COMPANY WITH M'LEMORE

By HENRY M'LEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, June 5.—(UP)—Barney Oldfield once finished last in a race, yet was given credit for world's records at 5, 10 and 25 miles. . . A National league player in good standing travelled with an American league club recently when Bobby Brown, Boston Braves pitcher, went from city to city with the Detroit Tigers to have a sore arm treated by Trainer Carroll. . . Carroll brought "Schoolboy" Rowe's arm back into shape and says Brown has the same trouble, a cold in the arm. . . Francis Outmet, 40, says he'll be playing in the National Amateur golf championships as long as he can walk around the course. . . Claims that if a man has the same he should make a creditable showing whatever his age. . . Miss Harriet Curtis, spinster who won the Women's golf championships in 1906, re-entered competition after an absence of many years recently, and eliminated youthful Dorothy Richards, one of the favorites, from the Massachusetts tournament. . . It no doubt will surprise you to know that "Blondy" Ryan of the New York Giants, whose hitting is several notches lower than back, was a strong hitter and

SANTA ANA AND ANAHEIM OPEN AT CITY BOWL

With games at Santa Ana, Huntington Beach and Orange, the annual pennant race of the Orange County Night Baseball league begins tonight.

Anaheim's Flying A's open against Santa Ana's Green Cats at the Municipal Bowl. The strong Irvine outfit, pre-season titular favorite, invades Huntington Beach, Orange and Orange, perennial rivals, collide at Orange. Garden Grove, 1932 champion, is not in the league this summer.

The clubs will play a comprehensive schedule of two halves, the first closing July 6, the second August 10. They expect to complete the series between the split schedule champions before cold weather makes night baseball unpopular.

One of the purposes of the Orange county circuit is the development of talent for the National Night league, and that the minor league served its purpose well last year is indicated by the number of players who graduated into the larger league this season.

There will be a general admission charge of 10 cents at all league games, but National league passes issued to children by Chief of Police Floyd Howard will be honored at games here, it was announced.

Wilbur Stinchfield will pitch for the Green Cats tonight, Manager Joe Harless said. "Speed" Hankmeier and Al Reboin will do the catching, with Leo Morse at first base, Bob Bowe second, Charley Andros third and Emmett Seacord third. Charles Plister will be in left field, Charles Plister in center and Jerry Head in right. Les Boyle is the club's utility man. . . Clausen, an Anaheim high school kid, probably will hurl for the visitors.

HIGASHI LEADS DON SWATTING AVERAGES

Hideo Higashi, appropriately ended his athletic career at Santa Ana junior college by leading Coach Clyde Cook's baseball club in seasonal batting averages with a percentage of .360.

Coming up to the plate 75 times, Higashi collected 27 hits—19 singles, 8 doubles. He walked four times during a season of 20 games, six of which were season contests.

Leo Morse, freshman regular, was only four points behind Higashi. He hit safely 18 times out of 45 attempts for an average of .356. Joe Koral, Fred Bell and Bill McDaniel also remained above .300.

Eleven returning candidates eligible, prospects for next season appear brighter than usual. Regulars Morse, Koral, Bell, McDaniel, Clark, Kanawyer and Welty, and Reserves Stoddard, Willie, Whitford and Furuta are listed for 33 competition. Coach Cook loses Henry Thiery, brilliant short stop; Earl Homan, pitcher; Veri Moyer, infielder; and the hard-hitting Higashi.

Only an ordinary fielder while at Holy Cross. . . and that Joe Morrissey of the Reds, now playing shortstop, was an outfielder at Holy Cross, and so awkward he'd run in late and be forced to make a diving catch of almost every fly ball. . .

Peter Depaolo, 1925 winner of the Indiana 500, capitalized his victory to the tune of $75,000. . . the winner is lucky to make half that much these days. . . Eddie Rickenbacker, America's greatest war race, and before that a daredevil driver of racing cars, leaves his office when the window cleaners come to work. . . says he can't stand watching the cleaners take such risk. . . Homer Griffith of U. S. C., the outstanding quarterback on the Pacific Coast, sings with a dance orchestra, radio broadcasts and all. . . Those who have heard him still swear he's as good a signal-caller as there is in the business. . . Shortstops and second basemen of major league calibre are sadly lacking in the college ranks this season, according to Ira P. Thomas, coach and scout for the Philadelphia Athletics. . . Thomas says there is no end of outfielders and pitchers but that infielders are as scarce as golden wedding anniversaries in Beverly Hills.

2000 Watch 'Bike' Race; Waln Unhurt

Proving that nocturnal motorcycle racing is still one of Orange county's ranking sports attractions, approximately 2000 fans gathered at the Municipal Bowl for the first '33 summer program Saturday night.

The big turnout was rewarded by a diversified show which was climaxed with a spill by Miny Waln, American champion. Waln was carried out of the Bowl apparently seriously injured but an examination by physicians showed no bones broken. Waln is expected back on his mounts within a week.

Ray Grant, Portland, Ore., daredevil who dominated most of the races here last summer, started the '33 schedule with a main event victory over the enlarged Bowl course. His time was not exceptional but his win conclusive.

MAHAN, FOSTER REMATCHED FOR BOUT AT DELHI

Meeting in a rematch for the state amateur lightweight championship, "Dummy" Mahan of Los Angeles and Neal Foster of Long Beach will again head the Orange County Athletic club's boxing program at Delhi Thursday night.

Matchmaker Kid Mexico signed the bout today, Mahan agreeing to post his championship trophy. Mahan, a deaf-mute, defeated Foster here last week in a sensational struggle, Foster being outpointed in the first two rounds but closing so fast that he had Foster on the verge of a knockout in the last period.

"Bud" McCarter, the big Orange middleweight who has been almost invincible since he returned to the Delhi wars, appears in the semi-final against Jim Corbin, Los Angeles colored boy. McCarter kayoed Gene Brooks two weeks ago and stopped Louie Maldrano, another good fighter, last Thursday. . . Brea's Harold Sweet and "Buck" Steele, the latter better remembered here under his old fighting handle of "Smoky" Banks, provide the special event. They are heavyweights.

STAN SHULTE WINS WILLOWICK TOURNEY

Stan Shulte, Fullerton junior collegian, became the champion golfer of the Willowick club today, following his defeat of B. J. Morey of Orange, 3 and 2, in the finals of the annual Willowick spring handicap tournament here yesterday.

Shulte and Morey were both off form, and mediocre golf resulted. R. W. Bunce won the first flight in 17, and Jim Brackett defeated W. M. Young, 1 up, in the third flight.

Willowick will feature mixed foursomes next Sunday.

205,000 FANS WATCH BIG LEAGUE GAMES

NEW YORK, June 5.—With America's largest city divided into two enthusiastic baseball camps, each clamoring for another "nickel world series" between the Yankees and the Giants, it was only natural that New York should register smashing attendance figures yesterday. A big crowd day in both major leagues.

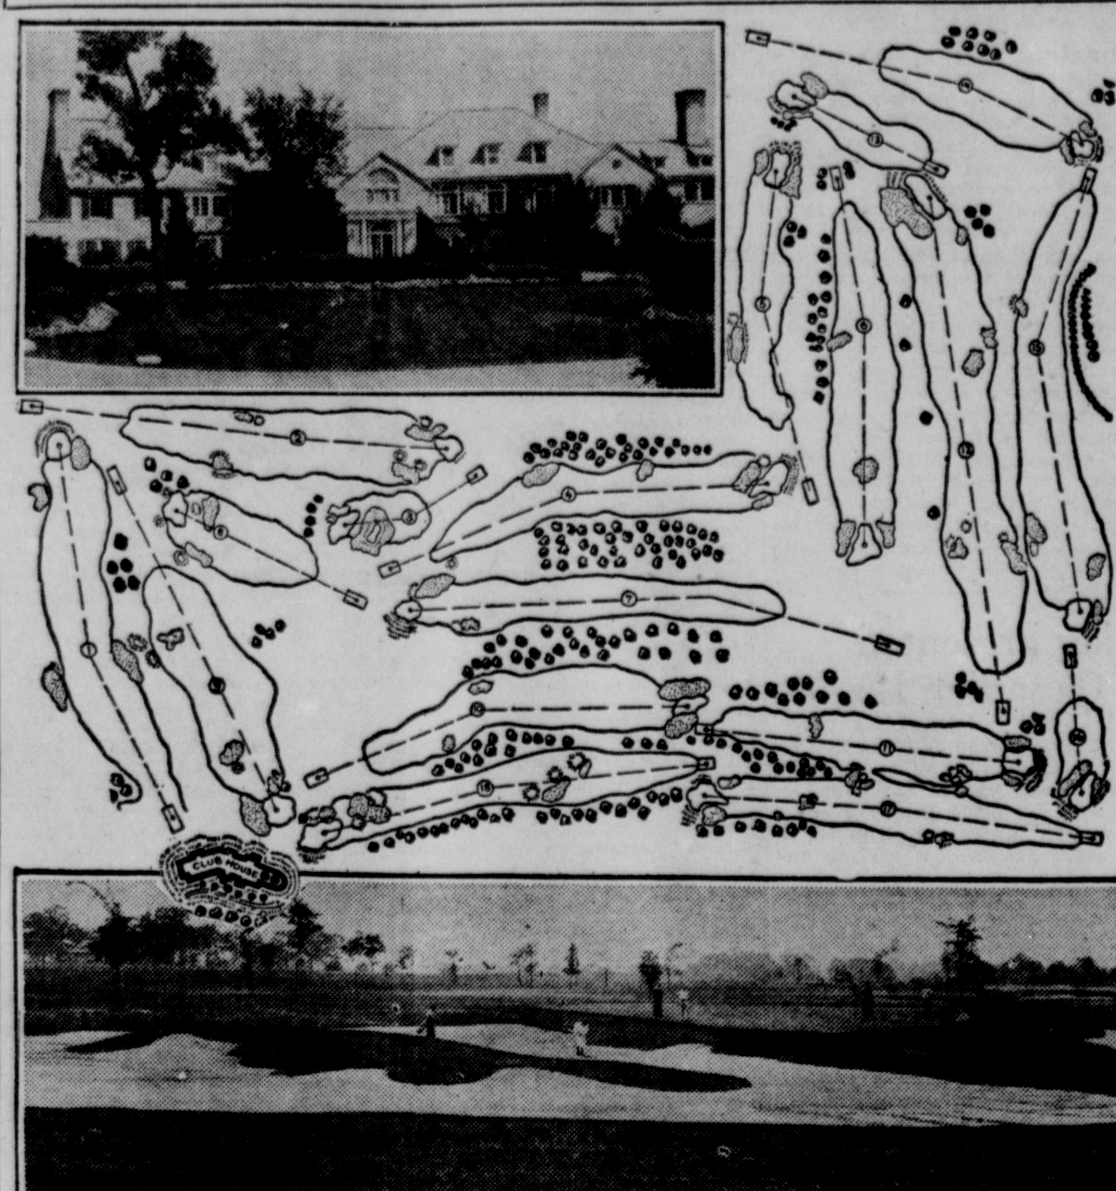

Of the 205,000 fans who witnessed games in seven cities, approximately 100,000 attended the two double-headers in the Greater New York area. . . Thirty-five thousand saw the Giants beat the Dodgers twice at Brooklyn, rising to first place in the National league ranking, while 65,000—saw the Yankees wallop Philadelphia twice, strengthening their American league lead.

CRAIG WOOD VICTOR IN DRIVING CONTEST

CHICAGO, June 5.—(UP)—Craig Wood, Deal, N. J., professional, won the World's Fair driving contest in Soldier field Sunday with three drives, all on the fly, totaling 735 1-2 yards. His longest drive was 235 1-2 yards. . . Tommy Armour, former British and U. S. Open champion, had the longest single drive, 260 yards. Ky Laffoon, Denver, Colo., was second to Wood with three drives totaling 718 yards. Joe Kirkwood, Miami, Fla., was third with a total of 710 yards.

JACK CRAWFORD COUNTRY CLUB ROUTS COCHET GOLFERS REACH IN THREE SETS QUARTER-FINAL

AUTEUIL, France, June 5.—(UP)—Margaret (Peggy) Scriven of England today won the French women's tennis championship with a 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 victory over Mme. Rene Mathieu, No. 1 French player. . . Miss Scriven, a left-hander, succeeded Mrs. Helen Wills Moody. Mrs. Moody did not defend. Mme. Mathieu eliminated the last American survivor yesterday, Helen Jacobs of California, 6-6, 6-3. . . Jack Crawford of Australia won the men's singles championship with an 8-6, 6-1, 6-3, triumph over Henri Cochet, ace of the French Davis Cup team. . . Crawford, underdog in the betting, gave Cochet one of the most merciless beatings ever administered to a first class player in the championship. After the first hard-fought set Cochet barely touched the ball, so severe and well-placed were the Australian's drives. . . Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Robinson's $1 was low gross score in mixed foursomes at the country club Sunday. Mrs. C. V. Doty and Dick Ewer's 86-15-71 was low net. . . Other leading scores: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langley, 98-22-76; Mrs. J. L. McFadden and J. K. McDonald, 89-11-78. . . Results of Saturday's sweepstakes: Bill Foote and L. H. Robinson, 72-5-67; B. V. Rousseau, 80-11-69.

Looking toward the organization of an eight or ten team league, with games scheduled every Sunday afternoon through the summer months, managers of Orange county baseball teams meet in Santa Ana tonight. . . The following clubs are expected to give definite word whether they'll be able to toe the starting line June 11: Hancock Oil, California Star Flour, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach, Orange, Anaheim Indians, Anaheim Merchants and Stanton. . .

Trying to pick a winner in this tournament is about as hard as picking a daily doubles combination at the race track. There is no outstanding champion. . . Sarazen will be seeking his third National Open victory. . . Hagen, hearing the end of his competitive career, will try for his second triumph, but he is always a menace, as the British golfers will tell you. . . As the day of the tournament nears, however, many think Olin Dutra most likely to win on the strength of his present form. . . Watching him at Fresh Meadows last year was a pleasure.

The home hole of 437 yards has a very narrow fairway with bad rough and trees on either side. Unless the tee shot is to the left, the second must carry over double trapping of the hardest kind. . .

145-POUND PRO BAGS ST. PAUL GOLF PLAY

ST. PAUL, June 5.—(UP)—Jimmy Foulis, young Hinsdale, Ill., professional, today held the St. Paul Open golf title and was richer by $1500 first prize money. Foulis, who weighs but 145, shot rounds 70-72-69-72 for a 72-hole total of 283. . . George Von Elm, Los Angeles, was second with 286, missing a chance to tie Foulis when he took a six on the 17th hole of the afternoon round after his tee shot hit a spectator and bounded into the rough. . . Walter Hagen took third place with 288. . .

He died Saturday, a month after his 88th birthday. Military funeral services will be held tomorrow at the Muldoon mausoleum in Kensico cemetery. . .

Trojan-Card Game To Be At Coliseum

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—(UP)—The Southern California-Stanford football game will be played in the Los Angeles Coliseum next Armistice Day, according to an agreement reached today by the city playground commission. . . The American Legion, which previously had been granted the stadium for a patriotic demonstration, agreed to accept partial use for 8 per cent of the gate receipts. Contracts will be signed by the universities shortly, authorities said.

At least four of the candidates have had experience at major colleges in the Pacific Southwest. The board of education assemblies in regular session tomorrow, and it is understood that Coach Oliver, who "goes up" to the University of Arizona in September, will appear before the group in person to resign. . . Whether the board—George Wells, president; Dr. Margaret Baker, Dr. W. M. Burke, M. B. Yovel and Rolla Hays—will immediately appoint Oliver's successor or delay the task indefinitely was not known today, but unofficially it was reported the board had decided to postpone action for at least two more weeks. In some quarters this was taken to mean that the board had decided to "open" the position to general application. . . At any rate, many duly qualified coaches have been interviewed by members of the board and Superintendent of Schools F. A. Henderson. Those known to be avowed candidates follow: . . . W. W. (Bill) Foote, for the past six years Oliver's assistant coach and scout at Santa Ana Hi and since February acting head of the physical education department; . . . Ted Shipkey, former All-American end at Stanford and for the past two years head coach of Arizona State college at Tempe, Ariz.; . . . Aubrey Bonham, a scout at the University of Southern California for Coach Howard Jones; . . . E. H. Greene, for six years coach at Central high school, Sioux City, Ia., and previously a four-letter man at Iowa State college; . . . Joe Buckmaster, coach at Santa Monica high school and previously connected at Inglewood and Orange; . . . Dick Rutherford, director of athletics at the Long Beach Pacific Coast club and before that a coach at Oregon State college and a widely known athlete at the University of Nebraska.

BAER BALLYHOO IS TIPOFF OF HIS WEAKNESS

BY HENRY M'LEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, June 5.—(UP)—If you upped us today and asked us why we were so thoroughly sold on Max Schmeling to bob Brer Baer when they meet in Yankee stadium that fine evening of June 8, we would give you several fine reasons, and not the least of those very fine reasons would be this fact: . . . The ballyhoo for the fight has been entirely too much concerned with Baer. . . This is to say, the old "steam-up" has simply been a mess of Baer-facts. The boys seem to be working overtime to lodge in the public mind that the Californian really is a fighter—a tremendous, blasting, slugging son-of-a-gun. And that, to us at least, is the tubby comedian of "Blossom Time" used to say, s-s-a-suspicious. . . Good Ones Need No Boosts . . . If he's honestly a good man you don't have to tell the people so they know it already. If his punch carries the power of a steel rivet, if his footwork is as smooth as Parlova's and fast as Metcalfe's, if his strategy is like Leonard's and his stamina that of an ambitious bullock, then the record books will show it. There's no use shouting it from the house-tops and mimeographing it to the end of the earth. . . Probably you noticed that the Baer barrage started shortly after the sports writers who saw Baer in an early workout got their reports in. Their reports were discouraging. They said that while the Californian was big and strong and willing, he still was clumsy as a cat in a paper bag, knew next to nothing about defense, and was so slow in shooting his punches that any run of the mine planist could give-off the Moonlight Sonata between the time he drew back and the time he let fly. . . Naturally, this sort of thing wouldn't do, because people won't clamor for tickets to a fight where they aren't likely to get a run for their money. So the press agents went to work building Baer up to a par with Schmeling. They did a good job, too, for Schmeling, at one time a four and a five to one favorite, is barely two-to-one today. . . We hope that you won't gather from this essay the impression that we believe Schmeling has no earthly chance to lose. That would be wrong, for he has. Against a guy as big and strong as Baer there is always the possibility that a roundhouse swing will connect, knocking the recipient entirely over the pony bed and into the section reserved for lilies of the valley. . . But that Baer will land one of these haymakers is not nearly so likely as that the cool and calculating Schmeling will slowly chop his man down with those short jolting rights, and those wicked jabs from the southpaw side.

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

Outlines Five Conspiracies Against 18th Amendment

POLITICIANS OF BOTH PARTIES, WET PRESS HIT

FULLERTON, June 5.—Although prohibition has been weakly led, has been compromisingly exposed, still at its worst it is better than any solution that has been presented and deserves the support of every decent man and woman in America. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, Washington, D. C., said yesterday in a mass meeting at Fullerton, held at the Methodist church in the interest of keeping Fullerton dry in the coming election.

Tells Conspiracies
Dr. Wilson, who was accompanied by Col. Frank Ebbert, brother-in-law of Bishop Hughes, outlined five great conspiracies that are working for the repeal of the 18th amendment, and said that if the Christian people of the United States permit these great influences to control voting, "we will lose, we will be yellow, and our children will look back on the present generation as of men and women who slumped, who turned yellow, and became combatants when the time had come for fighting."

The five great conspirators as presented through Dr. Wilson are the rich millionaires, the metropolitan press, the political combine of the big parties, the liquor conspiracy, and the efforts from Rome to kill all prohibition efforts in the country.

In opening his talk, Dr. Wilson said he read recently in "The Nation" that we are living in a bankrupt world, morally and religiously, economically and politically, and that we will never return to normalcy until we first return to the great moral heights.

"If the world gets under the hand of the liquor interests, Christianity will have its severest task since Nero's time, and it will get under those forces unless we as a people awaken," Dr. Wilson declared.

Best Solution
"We must learn that prohibition is the best solution the world has found in the world problem of liquor traffic; it is the best solution the world has found in the solution of moral problems of all kinds. The ten commandments are all prohibitive except one!"

As concerns the abuse of the prohibition amendment, the speaker declared that he believed that enough states would vote to maintain the amendment to give President Roosevelt a chance to do a real job of enforcing the issue. He severely criticized the past presidents and their indifference to the problem, and said that after election, when American people voted with a majority of 3-2 million for the dry cause, President Hoover was never again seen by those representing the dry forces. "He had four wet secretaries that had to be passed before we could get to him, and we never got to him; he had a wet cabinet; he had a wet Wickham committee; they were nine to two wet; he had two wet judges on the supreme court; prohibition, weakly led, compromised, enforced, sold out, betrayed, but at the worst, better than any solution of the problem, deserved the support of every decent man and woman in America," he declared.

The speaker said a great stain would be wiped off the name of Roosevelt if the people of the United States would allow him to enforce the 18th amendment, and urged that "let's give him a chance," that his name will not go down in history as the man who signed the beer bill.

"Washington might have remained a Tory, and have been the same great landed man, but his stand on the issue of the day was what made him great. Lincoln might have compromised the slave question, and still have become a powerful lawyer, but no one would have heard much of him; we now have men in great places, preachers and politicians, who, when facing issues, sit placidly and do nothing. I think that if people of United States would show Roosevelt they want prohibition enforced, he would enforce it."

Outcry Against Saviour
In his remarks on the "outcry against prohibition," the speaker said that Christians should remember there was outcry against the Saviour, in recalling that forces of evil joined hands in the outcry, he recalled that Herod and Pilate were friends; that the priests joined with the rabble, and all said "away with him." This cry against such things as prohibition is not because it is bad, the prohibition, but because it is succeeding, and making inroad against greed and selfishness, the speaker declared, and said in his careful observation of the things of life, that the clamor of "where there is smoke there is fire," would rather read, "where there is smoke, somebody has tried to start a fire."

"This present clamor as raised by the five great conspirators is like the clamor of five forces, joined in one fist, like fingers of a hand, to beat prohibition to death before our eyes, unless we come to the rescue," he said, declaring they have worked up the smoke, have wrought the criticism, and are at it now," Dr. Wilson said.

Rich Against Poor
"The first group, rich millionaires, such as the DuPonts, are against the poor man; the poor man is to be robbed that the rich man may be relieved of taxes, and the speaker said Pierre DuPont has said he is willing to spend $6,000,000 before he would let the 18th amendment stand, while Ira DuPont has been giving $40,000 a quarter to the Association Against the 18th amendment, and has declared that "if I can get beer back, it will save my family alone $10,000,000 a year in taxes."

Dr. Wilson declared that these men are deliberately plotting to fix it so that the poor man can drink to pay the taxes of the rich, and quoted John J. Raskob as having declared in a radio address, "I do not say Mr. Hoover is altogether responsible for the depression, but he has no remedy; I have a remedy. If I had my way, I would open drinking places and sell beer at 10 cents a glass, charging a four-cent tax. They would gladly pay for it; I would repeal the income tax, and have prosperity again."

"I do say that there is a conspiracy deep and dire to make poor men pay rich men's taxes," Dr. Wilson said.

Hits Politicians
The second finger of the conspiracy is the metropolitan press, that wants advertising, and is making of great importance the untruths of publicity men, the speaker charged. He declared that the politicians of both parties, all were traitors to their country, and wrote planks for each platform, so that the "dry" couldn't register their vote effectively."

"The fourth group is the liquor conspiracy," Dr. Wilson said. "In the old saloon days, the wine and the liquor gang gave each other away, each charging the other's wares with being unfit for drink. Now they have joined hands in the fight, and like Herod and Pilate, are made friends with one purpose, waiting for the underworld to get the upper hand of society."

"The 'thumb' of the conspiracy is from Rome, where hands are joined to get United States to repeal the 18th amendment."

After the close of his address, he introduced Colonel Ebbert, who said the country is facing a crisis and that people must face facts. "We have a fighting chance to hold the country but it will be a hard fought fight, with all who can fighting," he said.

The means of fighting the cause of prohibition is through aggressive education and organization, he said.

As a final warning, Dr. Wilson said that the addition of Constitutional amendment No. 21 will be a recognition of the liquor traffic.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Fullerton, Calif., May 29, 1933.
Dear Mr. Editor:

The proposed beer ordinance for Fullerton advances two reasons or purposes for its adoption. First: It claims that it will prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors. That claim is false, for it provides for the sale of beer of 3.2 alcoholic content; and Chief Finlayson of Los Angeles stated that, within the month, they had 34 cases of drunken men who were drunk on BEER. Nine organizations communicated with President Roosevelt, testifying that scientists had proved beyond a doubt that 3.2 beer was intoxicating, and their testimony was never questioned nor refuted.

Secondly: This beer ordinance permits and regulates the sale of "legal beverages." Let me ask this question. If 3.2 beer is harmless and will not injure our children, why should it be REGULATED AT ALL? Why should only a few be licensed to sell it, as a special privilege, as against the many? Why not let every one have an equal opportunity to profit by this so-called "harmless beverage?" The answer is plain and clear to any thinking person. Beer is intoxicating and habit-forming, and it is dangerous, even as other banned narcotics are dangerous. Therefore, we have no moral right to license beer in Fullerton. It is intoxicating.

Lastly: The proponents of the beer ordinance argue that congress and the president have legalized beer, but that does not of necessity make it right. Congress might vote that it was legal for us to steal automobiles, but that would not make it right for us to do so. There is a moral law laid down by the all-wise God that supercedes all human law, and the legalizing of anything that destroys human life is contrary to that law.

Let me remind you that Pilate, the Roman governor, legalized the crucifixion of the Christ, but that did not make it right. Judas received his revenue, 30 pieces of silver, for betraying the Christ, but that did not make it right. Beer intoxicates and makes drunkards of our neighbors and friends, and the proposed beer ordinance ignores that side of the question entirely.

Friends, if the use of beer was of any benefit to us and our children, and not a harmful poison, we would all be for it; but, because we know what it has done, and will do again, we feel that it is not right to place it in the way of those who are weak and cannot resist its deadly attack.

Abraham Lincoln said: "That which is morally wrong can never be made legally right." Vote NO and keep Fullerton a clean home town.

CROWD HEARS COLLEGE CHOIR SUNDAY NIGHT

FULLERTON, June 5.—"By Babylon's Wage," by Matthews, the song that won the 1933 Elsteddof prize in a recent contest, and many other numbers were presented by the Fullerton District Junior college a cappella choir last night at union services at the Methodist church, before a crowd that filled every available space in the church. The 66 voices, blended in perfect harmony, and under direction of Benjamin Edwards, had the complete program, except a short and interesting talk by the Rev. Francis E. Hawes, pastor of the Baptist church, who brought a Bible message, and the invocation, given by the Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and the benediction, given by the Rev. George Tinsley, pastor of the Christian church. The Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, pastor of the host church, presided.

The choir of the college has devoted all its time to accomplishment of religious numbers. Although requested not to applaud after each number applause would spontaneously start in some section or other, to die quietly down again. A first number was a congregational song. After the invocation, the choir, in blue and gold vestments, appeared, and opened the program with a number in Latin, "Adoramus Te," by Palestrina; "Bless the Lord" followed, written by Tschernokoff; and then an old Finnish folk song, "Lost in the Night" with Ella Ellis taking solo parts. The last number of group one was "All Breathing Life" by Bach, a finale from the "Sing Ye to the Lord."

After the short message by the Rev. Mr. Hawes, the choir sang "Build on a Rock" by Christensen, with Lewis Folsom as soloist, and "Chillun, Come Home," by Cain, and "Praise the Lord," by Christensen. Mrs. Nielsen played an organ offertory, "A Night Song," and the last group by the choir followed. The young people sang Christensen's "Hosannah"; Matthews' "Ballad of the Trees and Master" and the prize winning number, closing the evening of song with a beautiful and well known song of the 12th century, "Beautiful Saviour," with Anne Huscroft as soloist.

JOBS

The hungry politicians have quit scrambling to themselves and have started demanding action from the president in person.

They have been trooping into the White House quietly the last ten days buzzing in Mr. Roosevelt's ear that they need a New Deal too. They do not like the way some cabinet officers are keeping Republicans in preference to jobless Democrats. They have pointed out emphatically you cannot build a political organization that way.

The president has indicated he will appease their hunger. They expect manna shortly.

The cabinet officer they are shooting at particularly is Interior Secretary Ickes. He is running his department as a one-man show. He listened to reason from Postmaster General Farley and others in selecting his assistants. But he has been resisting pressure on the smaller jobs in a way which is very annoying.

What is worse he told a politician: "If you want to remove a man you must say something more than that he is a Republican."

You can imagine what a big hit a statement like that made with the Democratic office-seekers.

Most of the trouble is due to a rather slipshod method of testing the political qualifications of appointees.

The public works heads gave a job to a Michigan Republican who was defeated in an election out there very recently.

A mild old Democrat was dropped from service as publicity man for a government department. He was replaced by an able man who happens to have served once as publicity man for the Republican National Committee.

As a result of these breaks an order has been issued to exercise more care and political scrutiny in the selection of men hereafter.

The Helvering boys privately blame their confirmation troubles on the former Hooverite, Henry Allen. They claim they saw Allen's handwriting in the objections lodged against the new internal revenue commissioner by Senator Hastings.

It is more than a supposition that the income tax returns of all Helvering opponents will be closely scrutinized when he gets in. They tell an inside story of what happened to an up-and-coming young Democrat from the west. He was slated to be assistant Indian commissioner and came here to take over the job. The boys introduced him to Ickes and others. Ickes took him to lunch. Afterward he was told the appointment would not be made that day.

The same thing was told him each day for several weeks. Being a bright young man he figured he was getting a run-around and demanded an explanation. He got it: "You have no sense of social justice toward the American Indian."

The plight of the political hunger marchers got so bad two weeks ago they started building bonfires around the country. The stir they set up was described by one of them as a "hullabaloo." It sounded like that to the White House too. No public mention was made of the matter.

What started them off particularly was the transfer of $200 good jobs from the R. F. C. to Henry Morgenthau's farm outfit. Morgenthau passed the word around there would be no changes in this regional agricultural credit setup for the present.

That may be sound management but it does not make sense politically.

KINGFISH

Huey Long is becoming more of an undercover power in the senate than you know.

If you think all he does is to make these wild-eyed speeches you have another think coming. He never makes a speech any more without a hidden purpose. He has found he can force the hand of the administration at times by threats or encouragement. He has also found he can get things out of the leaders who dread the sound of his voice.

That dual discovery has started Huey talking again. His comrades speak of him as The New Long. You cannot tell any difference from listening to him.

Whether or not it is due to the new Long strategy, that senatorial investigation of his Louisiana political activities still rests in the limbo of forgotten things. It has been bottled up completely by the Democratic leaders. If any one inquires about it, the answer always is that it will "start sometime next week." That has been the answer for nearly five weeks now.

It is sufficiently indefinite to keep anyone from charging that Long has been whitewashed or has made a deal with the leaders.

Long regretted the deal he made with Senator Vandenberg to let the Glass bank bill go through. He sold out when the Vandenberg amendment was adopted, guaranteeing small bank deposits immediately. He gave his word to Vandenberg that he would not oppose the remainder of the bill.

When other sections were read he could not contain himself. He kept running over to Vandenberg saying: "Van, I've got to fight this section." Vandenberg would reply: "You gave me your word, Huey." Huey would go back to his seat muttering murderously to himself.

He kept his word, but it nearly killed him.

NOTES

The boys are confident the White House will loosen up on appointments as soon as congress adjourns. . . . Indiana is a state which has not even had a deputy marshal appointment so far. . . . Three Michigan Democrats are being mentioned in the higher party circles here as possible opponents of Senator Vandenberg next year.

They are Gov. Comstock, Frank Murphy and Congressman Hart. . . . Among recent callers at the White House were Ben Smith, Tom Bragg and Bill Danforth who would probably describe themselves as Wall Street operators. . . . They were supposed to be trying to interest the government in taking over some gold properties in California. . . . If that was the purpose their visit was fruitless. . . . The day Sprague was sworn in as the international exchange expert at the treasury department, Secretary Woodin remarked to friends: "This is another man who can be secretary of treasury any time he wants it so far as I'm concerned."

NEW YORK By James McMullin

A number of industries are falling over themselves to get their trade associations organized to cooperate with the government on industrial control. But there are mental reservations. Many business men are willing to be saved from themselves now but are all in favor of regaining a free hand as soon as the emergency is over.

You will see a struggle along these lines as the control plan develops. Apostles of individualism are aware that they are slipping their necks into a noose and will be actively concerned to see that it doesn't tighten up on them. Yet there are plenty of business men who agree that a return to the old system two years from now would simply make another gigantic rise and crash inevitable. The battle lines on this issue are already being quietly drawn under cover.

Appointment of General Hugh Johnson to administer the act would encourage the conservatives. He is known to view it as an emergency measure to be discarded when the crisis is past.

Word has been passed to the trade associations that the shorter working week and a minimum wage limit must take precedence over everything else.

BARUCH

Bernard Baruch's importance in the administration picture is more apparent than real. Some return had to be made for his $60,000 campaign contribution. It doesn't do any harm to let him have a pass to the White House and seem to advise.

Actually he has not achieved any of the things he wanted. Inside reports say that he has moved heaven and earth to become a delegate to the economic conference but is no nearer to this than to any other first-line post.

PRICES

Price rises since April 15th show startling discrepancies among various products. The big gainers at this writing include hides, up by 75 per cent; hogs by 43 per cent; tin by 41 per cent; copper by 23 per cent; and steel scrap by 26 per cent. The basic farm commodities—cotton and wheat—show moderate gains of 19 per cent and 13 per cent respectively. Still smaller gains have been made by flour, up 8 per cent; pig-iron, up 7 per cent; and beef steers, up 5 per cent. Egg prices have actually dropped by 2 per cent.

The point is that farm products are not gaining any faster and in some cases not nearly as fast as other commodities. Farm prices were much lower relatively than other prices when the rise began so the farmers' position is not improving as rapidly as most people think.

GERMANY

The struggle against the Nazis is beginning to take organized shape in Germany. A number of prominent German—not of the political conspirator type—are working in strictest secrecy for reestablishment of normal conditions.

Financial worries overshadow all other problems for the Hitler regime. Expenditures have increased despite Hitler's promises because thousands of Nazis are on the public payroll. Revenues have shrunk more rapidly than at the time of the flight from the mark. Skeptics ask whether the money printing presses are already working.

The recent prolongation of the German-Soviet pact renewing earlier treaties is regarded in Berlin as the first great "success" of the Hitler regime in foreign policy. It confirms the prophecy this column that anti-Communist activities would have no bearing on the German-Russian understanding.

Nationalist Leader Hugenberg will soon make as graceful an exit as he can from the Hitler administration. Herr Willkies, Nazi president of the land union, will probably step into his shoes as Prussian minister of agriculture.

NAZIS

It is an open secret to New York financial connections that Hitler's "labor conscription" is a mask for Nazi military service. The discipline which Germany's youth will receive as part of their labor is being watched carefully. Reestablishment of "the nation in arms" is expected to progress steadily.

The Nazis have definite ideas about women and are beginning to enforce them. The Bavarian Police Commissar in Ulm has decreed "the German woman does not smoke." And that will be that.

The Hamburg-American line recently announced in New York that their shops would continue to serve kosher food. At the same time the line advertised in Germany "Under the Swastika banner. Cruise to Scandinavia. Visit the original homeland of the Nordics." That's playing both ends against the middle.

The harmonious relationship between President von Hindenburg and Chancellor Hitler is not perfect. Von Papen has had a job lately acting as intermediary and Berlin reports to New York from sources close to him state that he has expressed doubts as to whether he will be able to avert an open break in the near future. Arizona Marriage Of Three Years Ago Revealed Entertaining a group of friends this week, Miss Florence McQueen, disclosed the romantic news that she had been Mrs. Don Kester since her secret marriage of May 31, 1930, at Yuma, Ariz. She had chosen the third wedding anniversary as appropriate time for making the announcement, giving the party in her home, 416 South Flower street.

On arriving, guests were presented with lovely corsage bouquets. Bridge proved a profitable game for all contestants, as each received a prize in the order of her score. High going to Mrs. Helen Nelson and low to Miss June Beshears of Anaheim.

A pink and white color scheme was observed at the close of play when a two-course supper was served. It was at this time that guests learned of the marriage of the young couple, by tiny notes hidden in capsules in the nutcrackers. It was revealed that the marriage took place in the Methodist Episcopal church of Phoenix, Ariz., with the Rev. Mr. Gray, formerly of Santa Ana, officiating.

Mrs. Kester has been employed as bookkeeper at Haber's for the past 10 years, and some of the guests were her associates there. Mr. Kester has been with the Excelsior Creamery company for the past five years.

Those present at the party were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Don Kester, the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McQueen, and her brothers, George, McQueen, and Francis McQueen; Mrs. Dora Hogan, Mrs. Fay Townsend, Miss Edith Mae, Mrs. Helen Nelson and Mrs. Marge Hurlburt, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Haber, Mrs. Ora Mansfield, Mrs. Gertrude Bryan, Miss Myrtle Robinson, Fullerton; Miss June Beshears, Anaheim; Miss Iris De Vere, Orange.

Butterfly Breakfasts Presented In Series Of Three Affairs

Saturday brought the third and final enjoyable party of a three-day series with which Mrs. J. D. Watkins, retiring president of Santa Ana Woman's club, complimented the officers and committee chairmen who have offered such fine co-operation throughout the two terms of her leadership.

All three parties were held in her pretty home on the peninsula at Balboa, and all were linked together by a definite decorative theme, expressed as "butterfly breakfasts." The aptness of this theme was understood by the guests, who found the home as gay with butterflies as a clover field in full bloom. They hovered over the many flowers gracing the rooms, and swayed from chandeliers, bookshelves and candles. Enhancing the pretty effect was the choice of rainbow hued linens for the grouped breakfast tables where each day's guest found an inviting menu awaiting them.

Thursday was designated as an amaranth party, and that popular amusement, introduced as a sequel to the breakfast, yielded first and second prizes to Mrs. Ruth Riggle and Mrs. James C. Clark.

Thursday's guests were Mesdames J. C. Williams, Ruth Riggle, J. H. Tompkins, Asa Vandermaast, William Whitehead, M. J. Marks, J. W. Kimball, A. J. Knight, W. H. Kuhn, J. G. Limbird, S. E. Littrell, A. G. Green, Charles Hoehn, Robert Cole, E. C. Wilson, Lovisa Leslie, Ella Webster and James C. Clark.

Friday brought a change in the entertainment feature, for Mrs. Watkins had planned and bridge to follow the breakfast and awarded prizes to Mrs. Harriet Lane and Mrs. William Castler.

Her guests on this occasion were Mesdames C. H. Stanley, R. G. Carman, William Castler, J. Bohlander, Henry Diers, E. M. Waycott, E. M. Wells, George L. Wright, Harriet Lane, M. M. Davis, C. C. Oakes and A. P. Nelson.

For her concluding hospitality Saturday, Mrs. Watkins planned a beach party, whose gay informality followed the breakfast hour in her home. Butterflies and flowers were abandoned in favor of wave spray and the sands, and swimming and beach sports entertained Mesdames Marie Stanton Eyerly, W. C. Watkins, E. J. Eaton, R. C. Harris, Ethel Thompson and the Misses Mabel Reed and Lydia Ward.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

1/2 glass of orange juice mixed with
1/2 glass of canned grapefruit juice; no sugar
2 slices rye bread toast
1 tsp. butter
1 cup coffee with
1/4 cup hot skim milk; no sugar.
Calory total....300.

Reports are beginning to come in from readers who have used the Eat and Grow Slim menus for the time they have been running. Some of these letters tell about loss of 10 pounds over a period of two months, others tell about losing a pound a week and their dissatisfaction that the loss is not greater.

PLEASE NOTE: The Eat and Grow Slim menus were not designed for rigid dieting. They were planned to be used to keep down weight after one had gone through a rigid diet, and this they will do to perfection. They are gentle reducers.

However, it seems to me that a loss of one pound a week is pretty fine work and much, much better for a woman's good looks than taking weight off too hurriedly. We are apt to want "to build Rome" in two minutes, forgetting the sad fact that the unwanted fat took its own sweet time in accumulating and will take a reasonable time and much intestinal fortitude to get rid of.

Please be patient; if you are losing even a quarter-pound a week, you are going in the right direction.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Graham Cracker Pudding
1 small package graham crackers
1/4 pound butter
3 cups stewed fruit
1/2 tsp. salt

The baking pans for this cake-pudding are quite important; they must turn out the layers without breaking, so if layer cake tins are used, or a form cake-pan and bake in a medium oven until nicely browned. Turn out and spread a thick layer of cooked fruit over the bottom layer, put on the top layer, and serve hot with plain cream.

If you make the graham mixture in the form cake pan, fill the indented part with thick fruit and top with whipped cream. In this case it should be served cold.

Now the fruit...what kind? Stewed apples, very thick and rich. Stewed dried apricots, mashed and mixed with finely cut pineapple. Strawberry rhubarb baked in the oven with lots of sugar, then whipped until smooth and thick.

This rich cake dessert will serve 12 nicely. Each serving has an approximate calory value of 375 without benefit of cream. Add at least 200 for the cream.

These are energy foods of the most intensive type. Be sure you don't confuse energy needs with a longing eye and appetite for sweets.

Major Donald Winans And Bride Return From Honeymoon

Santa Ana friends among whom Major Donald Winans grew from boyhood have received with keen interest announcement of his marriage on Sunday, May 28, to Miss Lillian Trowbridge, daughter of Mrs. Eva M. Trowbridge of Fullerton, and the news that the young couple, returning from their honeymoon, are to be established in Anaheim.

Major Winans, born in Santa Ana, is the son of J. C. Winans, 415 West Walnut street. His mother, the late Mrs. J. C. Winans, also was a native of Santa Ana and was educated in the local schools from which her son graduated. Major Winans is, in addition to an officer in the National Guards, commander of the Third Battalion, 185th Infantry, prominent in Elk circles as esteemed leading knight in Anaheim B. P. O. E., director of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Kiwanis club, of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and of the Republican County Central committee, so it may be seen that he has lovely interests.

His lovely bride has been on the editorial staff of an Anaheim daily newspaper for the past three years after completing Fullerton high school. For the quiet wedding in Yuma, Ariz., she was charming in an ensemble costume in rose tones with all dress accessories in gray, and wearing a corsage of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Urban H. Plavan, 2685 North Main street, accompanied the young people to Yuma, and served as best man and maid of honor at the ceremony conducted by Judge Freeman. Mrs. Plavan also chose rose tones for her smart gown with white accessories.

Following the ceremony, Major Winans and his bride, with Mr. and Mrs. Plavan, continued on to Agua Caliente for a stay of several days before returning to Anaheim.

Major Winans conducts his own accounting and auditing business in the neighboring city, and Mrs. Winans will continue her newspaper work for the present.

FIVE ARRESTED OVER WEEKEND IN THIS CITY

ANAHEIM, June 5.—Five arrests were made by the police department during the weekend, four of them on a suspicion of petty theft and one for intoxication.

Late Saturday afternoon police brought in Diego Ballejo, John Guzman, both of Anaheim, C. Alameda and Louis Guerrero of Los Angeles on a suspicion of petty theft when they were found at the old dump yard on East Vermont street. Their hearings were scheduled for this morning at 9 a. m.

Fred Strong of 1218 Parton street was arrested yesterday for intoxication but released on a $25 bail to appear in the police court this morning.

Police answered a call to 407 North Los Angeles street last night at 8:30 o'clock when it was reported that a young man, about 15 years of age, had entered the house but escaped when one of the members of the household came downstairs. He was described as wearing a wide brimmed brown hat, brown jacket and dark trousers.

DISCUSS RILEY TAXATION PLAN AT MEET HERE

ANAHEIM, June 5.—A complete discussion of the Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 3, known as the Riley plan of taxation, comprised the afternoon session of the Economic Council of Southern California that met in an all-day session at the Elk's club-house on Saturday. The amendment is being presented for public vote, in a special election on June 27.

With many Southern California assemblymen, state senators and sponsors of the bill present it was asserted that this plan will bring tax relief to common property owners, particularly to farmers. The provisions of the bill were discussed by James Beebe, Los Angeles attorney, after which those present were given opportunity to ask questions concerning the bill.

An announcement was made by Assemblyman Ted Craig of Brea that meetings will be held in Santa Ana, Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Diego and San Bernardino this week to give the public an opportunity to further acquaint itself with the provisions of the bill.

Sponsors of the bill are State Controller Ray L. Riley and Fred C. Stewart of the state board of equalization.

During the discussions it was declared that the bill is not to decrease expenditures nor is it political in nature. The most important thing against the plan is that the ability to pay taxes depends upon the ability to raise the necessary monies.

State senators present were Nels Edwards and W. E. Harper and state assemblymen, Speaker Walter Little of Santa Monica; Ted Craig of Brea, J. B. Phillips of Riverside; E. V. Latham of Alhambra, Frank Wright of Whittier and Archie Brook of Alhambra.

The meeting was presided over by Lotus H. Loudon, chairman.

The injured were Miss Margaret Sweet of 128 Melrose street, Placentia, and W. P. Brown of 231 South Poplar street, Brea. The latter is a mechanic in the Anaheim Buick garage.

They were taken to the Anaheim Sanitarium where they were treated for cuts and bruises. Brown also sustained a knee injury and Miss Sweet was thought to have injured her hip. Both were able to leave the hospital, last night, for their homes.

Independent Operators Scout H. B. Field For Oil Leases

NEW WELLS ON PRODUCTION IN DISTRICT SOON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 5.—With the major oil companies taking no part in the development of the newly discovered oil zone in the town lot area of the Huntington Beach field, several of the stronger independent operators are scouting the field this week for available drill sites. They claim that there is opportunity for the smaller operators to break into the big production at reasonably low cost and to reap handsome profits.

Rood and McKivvers, who opened up the new oil zone with the second well at Twenty-second and Walnut, doing 1100 barrels daily, and later with the Maceroo well on the adjoining lots, doing 4000 barrels daily. Both wells are under curtailment, one pinched back to 500 barrels daily and the other given an allowance of 1300 daily. Rood and McKivvers have started two new wells in the first block on Twentieth street, the Simaroo and the Cameroo, on adjoining lots.

The W. K. Kingsland, S. S. Wold and P. A. Kingsland, is drilling on Twenty-second street between Walnut and Olive, with McKivvers supervising the operations. Oscar Howard, prominent in Santa Fe Springs development, is drilling in the second block on Twenty-second street on a site adjoining the Maceroo well, and Rood is supervising the drilling operations.

Fairbanks, Rogers, Fornachan, Bain and associates, under the name of the Sierra Oil company, have a well in the first block on Eighteenth street, the settled production running about 400 barrels daily, and are moving drilling equipment to a site in the second block on Twentieth street. The McKee well in the first block on Eighteenth street is coring in the sand around 4500 feet.

DeWitte and Severens, with the California Drilling company, are drilling, will bring in their second well within 10 days at Twenty-first and Walnut, it is said. Fairfield and associates are making nice progress on their well at Twenty-second and Walnut on the corner. Charles W. Camp is setting machinery for a redrill of the well on Ocean avenue between Fourteenth and Fifteenth street for the farthest east test of the new oil zone. C. J. Laughlin is preparing to redrill his well in the same section.

Owing to the selling of royalty per cents and units in the field and many transfers of titles from the last oil boom, titles are causing trouble and delaying closing sales and leases in the field, as well as delaying drilling operations.

Standard Oil company is believed to have lost circulation in the Harry Anderson well, a leased property, located at Twenty-first and Walnut. The company has poured an immense amount of mud and other material in the hole. The P. A. Kingsland well in the middle of the second block on Twenty-second street went to mud as did the Texas Oil company well in the first block on Twenty-second. One other well in the same vicinity also turned into a mud well temporarily. All are oil wells and small producers. It is an occasional occurrence in the oil field when a well loses circulation for the adjacent wells to pick up the mud. The mud wells can usually be cleaned and brought back to oil producers.

After an interesting game, refreshments of chicken salad, cake and coffee were served to the following: Mesdames W. W. Perkins, C. Z. Wasson, guests, E. H. Darling, Mary Darch, Etta Chambers, J. A. Knapp, James Cockerham, Mary Kester, Mary Coats, Ray Beardsley, Ernest Littlejohn, Brin-ton Hale, George Schumacher, J. G. INDIFFERENCE OF CHRISTIAN PEOPLE ON PROHIBITION ISSUE ATTACKED BY BREA MINISTER

BREA, June 5.—Proverbs, 20:1, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise," was the text upon which the Rev. Donald F. Gaylord preached at the Congregational church on Sunday morning. In brief the Rev. Mr. Gaylord declared that the legislative measures introduced last fall against prohibition are the result of the indifference of Christian people more than any real force of wet propaganda.

What began in the east, he said, as a small stream has grown into a raging torrent and is sweeping the entire country, meeting with but little resistance due to the indifference of the part of many good people and the mistaken idea of some that the return of liquor means the return of prosperity.

"There is no meaning left to the word temperance," the Rev. Mr. Gaylord declared. "If a man drinks legal liquor he is temperate; if he drinks illegal liquor he is in temperate, according to legislative interpretation. But the matter lies deeper than that of legality or illegality. Liquor must take its place among all the other plagues of the world as one of the greatest and most potent enemies of mankind."

"I challenge any man to show me one single thing about alcoholic liquor that is good," he said. "Scientists, in published statements that are available to everyone, have set forth the proof that alcoholic liquor is a third class food, a second class drug and a first class poison; that it breaks down physical resistance to disease, that it destroys the moral fiber of the consumer, that it is the greatest robber of life and happiness."

"It is time that people should open their eyes to the activities of the repealists. Their work smells of high heaven. There is nothing in the measures they propose to prevent the return of the saloon with all its degradation and filth. Do not be deceived by the introduction of such innocent clauses as pertain to the prevention of the transportation of liquor between states; that law was in effect long before the 18th amendment was adopted. If the amendment is repealed we shall have no recourse if liquor is sold in the streets of Brea because we did not have sense enough to defeat measure No. 2 of the ballot last fall."

The Rev. Mr. Gaylord made a plea for a revival of the fighting spirit among Christian people.

"Even though we appear hopelessly in the minority," he said, "we should fight to the last ditch to drive this demon from our lives. It should be sold, or how much may be sold, or how it may be sold. If it is no good why not wipe it off the face of the earth?"

Aged Woman Saves Self From Death

LAGUNA BEACH, June 5.—Displaying rare presence of mind for one of her years, Mrs. Minerva J. Eaton, 96, saved herself from death by fire Saturday by rolling on the floor and smothering her burning night dress after it had caught fire from a gas stove. Mrs. Eaton suffered second degree burns on the left leg and thigh, but according to Dr. B. B. Mason, who was called from the Laguna Beach hospital, they should not prove serious.

Mrs. Eaton lives with her niece, Mrs. Frank B. Case, at 538 Coast Boulevard North. She was in her own room and had prepared for bed. As she passed a lighted gas stove the hem of her night dress swished against the jet flames and in an instant one side of the dress was ablaze. Instead of calling for help at once, Mrs. Eaton, although an invalid, dropped quickly to the floor and rolled over and over until the fire was extinguished. Then she called for Mrs. Case. Second degree burns are those where the skin is burned through.

Mrs. Eaton has lived in Laguna Beach for about five years. Although she has been in feeble health, she has retained most of her faculties and her mind is active.

“Poor little Duncy didn’t know that the face had been smeared up so sooty within the chimney. My, he was an awful sight.”

All he thought of was, what to do. The room that he had slid into was vacant. So far, everything had turned out quite all right.

Said he, “I don’t know where I’m bound, but I guess I will look around. I hope that I find Dotty, and that Goldy’s by her side.”

“If Mister Giant lives right here, no doubt I have a lot to fear. I trust that, if I see him, I will have a chance to hide.”

“In fact ‘twould be a real smart plan to find a nice place, if I can. Ah! There’s a dandy cupboard. Maybe I could sneak in there.”

He opened up the door and then he promptly pushed it shut again. “Oh, no,” said he. “That spot’s too small. I wouldn’t get much air.”

Just then he heard a loud meow. “Oh, gee! I’m in for trouble.”

STATE TAX AMENDMENT

A writer in the Los Angeles Examiner of Sunday, writing on the state tax amendment, to be voted on at the June 27th election, brings out some pertinent facts in regard to this measure, which seem to us should be carefully considered by the voters. In the course of his analysis, he says:

1. Effective January 1, 1935, it repeals Constitutional amendment No. 1, passed in 1910, which separated sources of taxation and laid a gross revenues tax on public utilities in lieu of all other state or local taxes.
2. Effective January 1, 1935, it repeals the gross receipts taxes on motor vehicle transportation companies. (This was also voted down last year.)
3. Restores state and counties to an ad valorem basis by returning all utility operative property to the local tax rolls, effective January 1, 1935. (But it does NOT definitely prescribe the method for valuing utility property for assessment.)
4. Shifts the burden of mandatory elementary and high school costs to the state from the counties, but continues the present constitutional provision giving state school funds a first lien on state revenues.
5. Authorizes the Legislature to levy a state ad valorem tax to raise not more than 25 per cent of the state's expenditures.
6. Gives the Legislature power to impose NEW taxes to raise the other 75 per cent, which will include about $37,000,000 in school support not now borne by the state. A personal income tax, a gross income tax and a 2 per cent consumers sales tax have been mentioned.

He then further suggests that there is a limitation placed on state expenditures of a five per cent increase per biennium. But permitting an increase in law is very much like commanding it. If there were a provision that there should be a decrease of five per cent for several years to come, it would be a little more to the point. But granting that this is an asset, the writer weighs the advantages and disadvantages and says that, according to the figures, the common taxpayer would save a net amount of $38,000,000.

This would be dependent, however, upon an amount received from the public utilities that would be put back on the tax roll in the various counties, and he gives this expression: "Public utility taxes are always lower than taxes paid upon other property. And they are never as high as estimates indicate they will be."

He says the reason they were taken off the county, and put on the state in 1910, was because of the impossibility of imposing equitable taxes on the utilities. He declares: "The Riley plan, experts say, offers more loopholes through which the utilities may escape their just share of taxation, than either the present system or the simple ad valorem method which was powerless to deal with them before Amendment No. 1 was adopted more than two decades ago."

It is a serious question. We are not entirely decided upon it, but it is a matter to which our taxpayers should give very considerable attention during the coming days, and not be carried off their feet by resolutions of organizations proposing to do their thinking for them.

SIGNS OF PROMISE IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

For the sixth successive week, the New York Times business index shows continuous improvement in the business of the country. There has been a rise of nearly 18 points, from 60 to 77.5—since the middle of March. Business now is where it was in December, 1931. Better than that, the seasonal advances have been greater than in normal years.

Of course, there are croakers who are saying that the advance is entirely the result of the oxygen that has been pumped into the economic structure by the Federal government through its building and inflation program. There are others who tell us that it is all psychological, that the vigorous actions of the administration at Washington have made the people expectant. We cannot agree with them.

In a recent broadcast by the Department of Agriculture, it was stated that the advances in price of agricultural products may be directly attributed to the low stocks of canned milk, of dairy products, and other agricultural products held in storage. With the assurance of a better market for such commodities, the processors are beginning to get busy producing to increase these low stocks. This will mean more money for the farmers, and therefore increased purchasing power. It will mean greater factory employment, which also means increased purchasing power.

Steel production, which has been as low as 15 per cent, has now risen to over 50 per cent. New blast furnaces are being opened up. It is said that orders already in hand look toward an increase even during the coming summer months—a time when there is usually a slackening up.

We have been disappointed so often during these last three and a half years that we do not desire to be unduly optimistic. Yet, reading the estimates of those who are wise and discerning in such matters, there is more ground for optimism than at any time since the collapse in October, 1929.

LEGAL TENDER AND CONTRACTS

Under the Farm and Inflation act, new Treasury notes authorized by the act itself, and all other coins and currencies heretofore or hereafter coined or issued by or under the authority of the United States shall be legal tender for all debts public and private. This is the new order, and it simplifies the law. Heretofore, the layman had to go to a lawyer or banker to know whether the particular coin or currency, that he had in his possession, was legal tender, as to whether by tendering it and a refusal being offered, it was evidence that he had fulfilled the conditions of the contract.

This provision, together with the bill that will be signed within a few days, providing that regardless of the provision of the contract, a debt can be discharged by the payment of any legal money of the country, will greatly help the debtor class. It is a serious question as to just how this can be enforced, when a contract has been entered into, whereby a person agrees to pay his debt in a certain form. The action would be brought in a state court, and how a man could bring in a national law to defend him for his refusal to abide by his contract, and make it valid as a defense, we do not quite understand. Further study may enlighten us.

But as long as a man enters into a contract which is not invalid under the Constitution of the United States, certainly an act passed by Congress cannot absolve him from the obligations of that contract, if it is an action brought by one citizen of a state against another citizen of the same state, and entirely within the jurisdiction of the state court.

It may be that if the Federal government has rendered it impossible for one to discharge his obligation through no fault of his own, that might be a proper defense. But the truth is that there is nothing in the Federal law to prohibit a man buying his gold in the world markets, or of paying the excess amount in other legal tender, to make up the difference between the value of the legal tender and the value of gold. If the Federal government can dissolve, or render valueless a private contract, it would pretty much undermine the very structure of our commercial and business life. We will be interested in watching the manner in which this will be enforced.

A DECREASE IN THE BIRTH RATE

Census reports indicate a nation-wide decrease in the birth rate. We suspected as much. Certainly marriages have been very many fewer. Young people leaving high schools and colleges have found it well-nigh impossible to find employment. This has made for an indefinite postponement of marriage on the part of many of them.

There is no doubt that depressions in civilized lands have the effect of decreasing the birth rate. Among primitive and half-civilized peoples, there is no diminution of the birth rate at any time. Among these, famine and pestilence are the agencies which slow down the increase of population. Among intelligent and advanced peoples the restrictions of birth rates are planned before birth rather than by the decimating forces of nature.

In times like these, when the door of opportunity is open a crack only, there is no need for an increase of the population. With the increase in productive power, it is beginning to be seen that there is no virtue in soaring populations. When hundreds of thousands of slaves were needed to build a pyramid over the tomb of an Egyptian king, an excess of population could be utilized. Now the machine has become man's slave, and he is using it instead of his fellowmen to increase comfort and wealth.

"Dixie"

Washington Star

Every time a parade goes down Pennsylvania avenue and the bands play the stirring strains of "Dixie," the question is asked, "How does it happen that the South is called 'Dixie Land'?"

There long has been curiosity about the origin of the nickname. Certain scholars have made a serious search for its source. But as yet there is no agreement on the subject, and it may be that there never will be a universally accepted opinion. "Dixie" is one of the mysteries of history.

According to one theory, the word comes from the name of a slave dealer in New York, a Mr. Dix, whose practice it was to fatten slaves he was about to sell by giving them plenty of food and no work. When they had attained the desired ponderosity, they were disposed of by weight.

Dixy's reputation spread throughout the country. His cognomen became a synonym for plenty of good things to eat and nothing to do.

Presumptively, the South was imagined to be that kind of paradise—a garden of delectable edibles and little labor. But, since it was not exactly that sort of territory, there is a good deal of doubt about the suggested explanation of the familiar term.

Another theory is that "Dixie" comes from a species of banknote sponsored by the Banque des Citoyens, the Citizens' Bank of Louisiana, with headquarters at New Orleans.

French was the language of the Crescent City in those days, and notes, therefore, were printed in French, the word "dix" being used for "ten" on some of the most common bills.

Rivermen mispronounced the phrase—normally spoken as though spelled "dee"—and referred to the currency as "dizies."

New Orleans thus became Dixie Town, or Dixie City, and the bank the Dixie Bank. Eventually the whole South was known as Dixie. There may be more in this hypothetical genealogy of the title.

But no one knows positively. In the circumstances, one guess may be as good as another. Some authorities are content to believe that Dixie is merely that section which lies to the south of Mason and Dixon's line, and that all there is to the matter—a notion that constitutes the survivor of the parent of the word.

In any case, it was Dan Emmett, the minstrel, who made the song popular, and it is a grand and glorious tune.

Poland's Fears

San Francisco Chronicle

The story exciting to Poland that Germany is planning to attack Russia and so schemes to get back the Polish Corridor as the first step, is rather fantastic as to motive but rests upon solid ground in so far as the corridor is concerned.

From the day when the Peace Conference gave this strip of territory to Poland for access to the Gulf of Danzig, German ambition to recover it never has slept. It is not, as Poland regards it, purely national pride with Germany since this strip separates Germany from their important Eastern Prussia province. It is valuable to Germany, but vital to Germany as access to a province, to Poland as its only outlet to the sea.

The Russian objective sounds like nonsense. But it is not nonsense that Germany has a permanent determination to get back the corridor some day, and Poland has a desperate resolution to keep it. This is one of the world's perennial danger spots.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE VERNAL TRAGEDY

School ain't so bad when winter's here—
Nor not so good—but still
The crick's been frozen half a year
Above the old gray mill;
The snow is over all the ice
Below the pasture gate,
An' only maybe once or twice
You git a chance to skate.

But when the birds are on the wing,
An' when the grass gets green,
And when a feller wants to sing—
Well, you know what I mean—
When pickered is to be caught
In all the yaller brooks,
Whoever hankers to be taught
The stuff that's in the books?

The schoolhouse then's just like a jail—
You can't get satisfied;
You'd rather it would snow or hail
Than be so nice outside.
Acrost the meadows far away
You hear the old crows caw—
To keep a feller in all day
Should be against some law.

If schools build up a feller's brains,
As teachers say they do,
Why can't they learn us when it rains,
Nor when the skies is blue?
I think that ignorance is bliss
When all is said an' done,
For when you go to school you miss
An awful lot of fun.

Little Benny's Note Book

By Lee Pape

I was starting to do my homework against my will and I said to pop, Hay pop?

Present, pop said.

Meeting what did I want, and I said, Wich would be the worst thing to be, a chewed off pencil stump or a squash tomato?

Yee gods, pop said. Is that what you mite call a rhetorical question, or does it call for an answer? he said, and I said, Yes, sir, it's serious.

A chewed off pencil stump or a squash tomato, pop said. It's a very fine distinction and I don't think I can answer from experience because as far as I can remember I have never been either, and my family pride keeps me from bleeving that I was a chewed off pencil stump or a squash tomato even in a former reincarnation, he said.

Well what do you think? I said, and pop said, Well, neither one is an enviable object, and yet each properly has its consolations. A chewed off pencil stump is certainly not an esthetic site and is extremely difficult or impossible to write with, yet it mite have an able bodied eraser patiently awaiting the call of duty at its far end, and it mite be whittled into a toothpick in a case of dire necessity, he said.

And how about a squash tomato?

I said, and pop said, I'm afraid I cant say as much for a squash tomato. In fact in spite of my love of justice and a square deal for all, I cant think of a single good point for squash tomatoes, he said.

Good, herray, I win, I said. Shorty Judge called me a chewed off pencil stump and I called him a squash tomato, so he was the one that was the most insulted, so I win, dont I, pop? I said, and pop said, The supreme crot is taking a recess.

Wich he did in back of the sporting page.

A. J. Cruickshank, W. B. Williams, William E. Otis, and E. B. Sprague were Santa Ana bankers preparing to attend the annual convention of the California Bankers' association at Catalina Island. The men were to be accompanied by their wives.

F. E. Skinner, athletic coach at Orange intermediate schools, had tendered his resignation to accept the post of principal of a school in Hawaii where Mrs. Skinner was to teach also. Their plans embraced an automobile trip to Tacoma in June and sailing from Vancouver in August for Honolulu.

Alan Revill who had been overseas for a year in government service, had received his discharge at the Presidio and was back at his home here. He was among the motor transport men who handled 1,300,000 soldiers through Liverpool.

A petition signed by scores of names was presented to the board of supervisors, asking that the county build a bridge across the Santa Ana river at Seventeenth street to replace that washed out by the floods of January, 1918.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE ARTS IN EDUCATION

Under the pressure of falling public income, we are here and there suspending from our schools such training in the arts as we have been able to introduce in these later years on the assumption that the arts are luxuries that must give way before necessities when the purse grows lean.

I think a little more careful consideration will show us the folly of such judgment.

Unless I wholly misunderstand the problem, the arts are vital to the sort of education we need. In the years ahead, we are to master instead of being mastered by this vast, complex and swiftly moving civilization born of science and the machine.

It may seem to some that to speak of the arts in the midst of the political distraction, economic dislocation and social disarray that haunt the spirit of civilized men the world around is a little like fiddling while Rome burns.

Would it not be better to declare a moratorium on the arts until we have made a better job of assuring food, clothing and shelter to the millions?

I can almost hear this question coming back to me, as I write, from some reader whose spirit has been chilled by the fact of unemployment or the fear of insecurity.

I feel profoundly the mood that makes such a question possible. And I should say "yes" to it if I did not believe that arts can help rather than hinder us in making conquest of the forces that today threaten the stability of our social order and the security of our lives.

Faced by a temptation extraordinary to surrender to materialism, Jesus of Nazareth rebuffed his tempter with the conviction that "Man shall not live by bread alone." And the great Mohammed once said, "If any man have two loaves of bread, let him trade one for a narcissus. The bread is nourishment for the body, but the narcissus is nourishment for the soul."

We who went through the Monte Carlo madness of the speculative orgy that so nearly wrecked our economic order should be ready by now to admit the soundness of the ancient words of wisdom that have come down to us across the centuries from Christ and Mohammed.

I want this week to discuss some of the contributions the arts may make through education to the stabilization and enrichment of our social and economic order as enforcement of my conviction that we should think twice before we denude our schools of the arts in this period of depression.

SUMMER READING

When school closes and the long summer days give children the chance to enjoy a good story, we must have a few on hand. The better they are the more the children will enjoy them. They won't read books they don't like. Cramping books down their throats is worse than useless because they learn to hate what they would otherwise come to love.

A good book is more than a pastime for an idle hour. It is rest for the tired body; food for the hungry soul; inspiration for the eager mind; a friend that never fails, never grows weary of serving, never changes though all else change. If one can offer such a gift to a child what joy in the giving. What happiness in receiving.

After watching all year for the best books for this summer I have selected a few that I like, though there are many more that you will think equally good. I dislike to label books as belonging to any one group of children, because a good book belongs to us all. Any one of these books will be enjoyed by any member of the family. The four year old's book will hold the older brother who reads it to him and the older girl's book will interest the little chap. And grandma, who reads to them all, will not be bored, I can promise.

For the youngest readers take Noah and Rabbit, a happy chatter book full of goings and comings and sprinkled with laughter.

Stumpy, the gay tale of a chipmunk, and Nicodemus and His Little Sister. I think this little book, just big enough for a child to hold, with pages just full enough for him, pictures easy to see and understand, is charming.

The middle group will like Peter Duck, especially if someone reads bits aloud. It is that kind of book, "You read a bit and I'll read a bit." Little Saint Theresa is good and so is the companion book, Little Saint Elizabeth. Children should know them. The Carpenter's Tool Chest is good for boys who enjoy handling and knowing about tools.

The middle group of young readers often lap over the older one and enjoy the same books so I have selected more of them. Any child who can read a story can read any one of these.

Round About America. Get that one if you can get no other and read it aloud to the family. You will learn why you love your country if you don't know before. Silver Chief, if you like dogs. Jo Ann, the story of a girl who gave a boy a stiff run for first place. Which one is the winner you will have to decide, but you will think the story great fun. Desert Island Adventures is a book of what you like best. Not just one desert island and what it did to the castaway, but a book of all true, maybe. Echo Hill is a story about a family who struggled to hold together and save their home. One of the best of its kind.

Last of all go back to the beginning and buy a couple of picture books for the ones who read pictures. Don't let them miss the pair of books about the mice, In the Mouse's House, and Runzel-Punzel. The pictures are lovely.

ABANDONMENT OF PLAYGROUND PROGRAM SEEN

Unless civic and service organizations take an active part and attempt to raise funds for recreational purposes, there will be no summer playground program of any kind in Santa Ana this year, it was declared today by B. Z. McKinney, chairman of the city recreation commission.

McKinney told of the collapse of the comprehensive schedule planned for this summer after an informal discussion held recently between members of the commission and the city council. Although the councilmen were unanimous in backing the proposed work, they were unable to offer any financial support because of the limited city budget caused by the increasing number of delinquent tax returns, it was said.

The commission is still hopeful that some kind of arrangement can be made with the board of education to permit the use of playgrounds and the high school swimming pool, but in preliminary negotiations, the board indicated that the city would have to operate the playgrounds, which would be impossible without finances.

Up To Citizens

According to McKinney, there is still some possibility of working out a recreation plan if the people of Santa Ana wish to help. He cited the proposition of having benefit entertainments, competitive sports, and sponsoring of individual projects by service clubs and civic organizations.

The ultimate aim of the commission is to work out an all-year program similar to that in operation by the cities of Long Beach and Santa Barbara. Among the projects that could be sponsored here, especially during the coming summer months, are included baseball leagues for young men and boys; volleyball games for the girls; horseshoe grounds throughout the city; a vacant lot in every block for the use of small children; bicycle races; tennis courts; shower parties from the fire department; skating parties on roped-off streets; and many other forms of sport.

Two years ago, the city of Santa Ana appropriated $5000 for a nine-week program. Under a reduced budget last year, an eight-week schedule was completed for a cost of only $1200. According to McKinney, a comprehensive and economical plan for this summer, with the nucleus of an all-year organization included, would cost about $1200. One part-time supervisor would be the only paid employee with student help and teachers assisting in the work.

PLAN PROPOSED WILL PROVIDE DEATH BENEFITS P. O. TO OPEN PACKAGES TO CHECK LETTERS

A plan which will give Mexicans of Orange county an opportunity to pay the funeral expenses of relatives when a death occurs in the family, rather than seek aid of the county, has been formulated at Colonia Juarez, a small settlement near Talbert in the Huntington Beach high school district.

The plan follows that of mutual life insurance companies and those to share in the benefits of the proposed association are to be assessed $1 at the time of the death of a fellow member. The plan has the approval of Byron Curry, head of the welfare department of the county, it is stated.

It is hoped that 500 may be secured for the association which will give $499 to the family in which the death occurs. The plan, which is said to have originated in the Fresno district, is sponsored in this county by Mrs. Florence Summers, head of the Americanization department of the Huntington Beach high school, and a group of prominent Mexicans. The opinion of District Attorney S. B. Kaufmann has been sought as to the legality of the proposed plan and a favorable answer has been received by the committee.

According to a present outline an advisory board of five Americans is to be appointed and two already have been chosen, Curry and Mrs. Summers. Two captains have been appointed, Martin Ruvalcaba for the Colonia Juarez district, and J. S. Cruz for Westminster. Each high school district will have a captain to work with the advisory board and to collect the money at the time of each death. Failure to pay assessments automatically takes the delinquents name from the list of those eligible for benefits.

At present the names of 100 Mexicans have been secured and 250 have signified their intentions of affiliating with the movement. Mexicans in the Anaheim, Fullerton and Placentia districts are said to be interested in joining the association which is open to any Mexican in the county.

The plan is said to be the first self-help idea of the sort launched in Orange county and if successfully carried out will relieve the county of a large amount of expense in Mexican burials as well as give those bereaved a feeling of self sustenance, it is said by those interested in the proposal.
